WASHINGTON, May 28.—In a move to speed up and streamline the war effort, President Roosevelt today establisned an office of war mobilization.

The new supreme war directing body will be headed by James F. Byrnes, who is resigning as economic stabilization director in order to assume his new post.

A war mobilization committee will be established within the new organization. The committee will include the secretaries of war and navy, the chairman of the munitions assignment board and Donald Nelson, head of the War Production Board.

Vinson Succeeds Byrnes

The president also announced that Judge Fred M. Vinson of Kentucky has been named to suceed Byrnes as economic stabilization director. Vinson also will serve on the war mobilization committee.

The president's action followed weeks of widespread protests against the Office of Price Administration and internal rows within the War Production Board over the management of the war effort on the home front.

President Roosevelt said that the new committee will "lay down unified policies and develop integrated programs and will see that the policies established and programs developed are expedited."

"We are entering a phase of the war effort when we must streamline our activities, avoid duplication and overlapping, eliminate interdepartmental friction, make decisions with dispatch, and keep our military machine and our essential civilian economy running in team and at high speed," a statement by Mr. Roosevelt said.

President Roosevelt added that the new war mobilization committee "has been purposefully kept small so that it can function most effectively."

FLOOD WATERS ARE RECEDING

Hope Battle Against Worst Flood Of Century Is Being Won

(International News Service)

Vigilant patrols of soldiers, sailors and civilians guarded levees along swollen rivers in six midwest states today as high waters receded bringing hope that the battle against one of the worst floods in a century had been won.

A new all-time high water mark of 42.30 feet was recorded at Cape Girardeau, Mo., breaking the 99-year-old mark of 42.19 set in 1844. The flood stage at Cape Gidardeau is 32 feet.

Two army fliers from George Field, Ill., were believed to have been killed when their plane, one of a formation patrolling the flood area, crashed in the swollen Wabash river three miles south of Vincennes, Ind.

An estimated 3,551,000 acres of land were flooded in the six midwest flood states, the bread basket of the nation, it was announced at a flood conference in St. Louis, Mo., called by War Food Administrator Chester C. Davis.

The acreages flooded included 1,000,000 in 70 Illinois counties; 809,000 in 35 Oklahoma counties; 700,000 in Indiana; 442,000 in 18 Missouri counties, and 300,000 each in Arkansas and Kansas.

Heavy Fighting Near Naval Base Of Novorossisk

Moscow Silent On German Claims Reds Have Opened Big Offensive

NAZI AIR FORCE IS BATTLING FURIOUSLY

By NATALIA RENE
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

MOSCOW, May 28—Soviet and German forces were locked today in a bitter struggle northeast of the Black sea naval base of Novorossisk which may determine whether the Nazis can maintain their bridgehead in the Kuban valley of the West Caucasus.

The Red Army high command stated that heavy fighting was in progress in the area but remained reticent concerning broadcast of a German communique declaring that the Soviets had launched an offensive with several divisions of infantry supported by tanks.

Other quarters in Moscow disclosed that the Nazi air force was battling desperately to stem the tide of battle northeast of Novorossisk. Fierce dogfights resulted when Soviet airmen soared into the skies to attack the German craft.

In all 64 German planes were shot out of the skies over the battle area, Russian sources said, while the Soviet air force lost 13 craft.

OPA SHAKEUP PLAN DELAYED

Brown's Penchant For Compromise Holds Up Forecasted Changes In Agency

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 28 — Efforts to lineup the powerful house steering committee behind a move to revamp the office of price administration were underway today as Price Administrator Prentiss Brown's penchant for compromise delayed a spontaneous shakeup within the agency.

The politically-schooled O P A chief, drafted for Washington's hottest domestic job after his tenure as Michigan Senator, neatly sidestepped a showdown between clashing personalities within the organization—J. K. Galbraith and Lou R. Maxon—and postponed a decision "until the second week in June."

"I'm not worried about personality clashes at the top," Brown told newsmen, "I'll pick the one I think best and let the other go."

Although Brown declared that he was more interested in getting the subsidy program for a roll-back of food prices into effect, his inaction on OPA's internal crisis did not quiet the clamor for a reorganization in congressional quarters.

Second War Loan Leaders Celebrate

Amazing Record In Recent Lawrence County Drive Is Revealed

PLANS CONSIDERED FOR DRIVE IN FALL

In their own way, the members of the executive committee for the second war loan did a little celebrating Thursday night in The Castleton hotel. A few verbal boquets wree handed out to leaders, a dinner was eaten, but for the most part the celebration consisted of preparing for the next war loan which will come in September.

Rather an odd way to celebrate a victory perhaps but the members present are odd men, odd enough to bring Lawrence county through to a place of distinction in the totals of the war loan drive, to second place in all of Western Pennsylvania and to win both a quota flag and an honor pennant, the latter for turning in over 150 per cent of the public quota.

Chairman Joel S. McKee

Joel S. McKee, the chairman of the second war loan, opened the speaking program after the dinner and expressed his gratitude for the work done by the executive committee, the area leaders, district captains and workers. "Our total quotas amounted to $5,250,000," said Mr. McKee. Our returns show $10,283,350.75 subscribed out of which we get $7,557,550.75, the bank quotas having been cut down. It was an achievement of which you can be proud. We subscribed our public quota by 167 per cent and our bank quota by 113½ per cent."

Mr. McKee then made reference to several fine pieces of effort which had been turned in "In all the county, Ellwood City stood out as the leader," said Mr. McKee. "Ellwood City turned in 413 per

Use New Tactics In Air Assaults Upon Sardinia

Hailstorm Of Lighter Explosives Used Instead Of Heavy Bombs

PLANES SWOOP LOW AND MAKE ATTACKS

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, May 28--Switching from heavy bombs to a hailstorm of lighter explosives, Maj.-Gen. Jimmy Doolittle's B-26 Marauders and P-40 Warhawks swooped over the Decimomannu airdrome in Sardinia and raked the field with 4,000 fragmentation packets in a new, devastating attack, Allied spokesmen announced today.

Many Axis planes, trapped on the ground at the Sardinian air base, were destroyed or badly damaged where they stood. Thirteen additional enemy aircraft out of a formation of more than 30 German and Italian warplanes which attacked the raiders were shot down during a 25-mile running dogfight. Only one Lightning was downed and the pilot was later rescued.

Axis Planes "In Sun"

The axis air formation pulled its customary trick of launching its attack on the American planes by plummeting out of a blinding sun and for 18 minutes the wheeling formations locked in deadly combat over the Mediterranean.

The fight was described later by Maj. Everett B. Howe of Waldron, Mich., who blasted one Italian plane into the sea.

"They jumped us," he said, "just as we left for the home stretch. They staved so perfectly in the sun that I had a hell of a time seeing them."

Two-thirds of the enemy interceptors, he added, came swooping down against P-40 fighters, which promptly shot six out of the sky. Meanwhile the Marauder bombers, busy battling the remainder of the Axis planes, shot down seven.

Airdrome Hit

Powerful formations of B-25 Mitchells at the same moment were hitting the nearby airdrome at Villacidro, Sardinian base from which many Axis planes have been operating. Three large columns of smoke were left floating upward over the target area and photographs later showed many enemy aircraft laying in ruins on the ground.

Urges Italy To Choose Peace

Foreign Sec'y Eden Voices Warning To Italian People

ACCEPT PEACE OR BOMB DESTRUCTION

(International News Service)

LONDON, May 28—A new suggestion that the Italian people choose peace rather than destruction from the air was voiced by Foreign Secretary Eden in a speech at Portsmouth today.

"Italy is wide open to air attack," he said.

"This will be pressed home with all means in our power.

"It is for the Italian people to decide whether they are to endure bombardment to the bitter end and when it is to stop."

Asked To Bomb London

Eden recalled the day during the early stages of the war when Premier Mussolini asked Adolf Hitler for the "privilege" of sharing in the bombardment of London.

"We have not forgotten that," he said.

Great Britain, the foreign secretary continued, is not prepared to lend an "attentive ear" to suggestions that the weapon of aerial bombardment be yielded up.

"We didn't start this business," he said. "Goering gloated over the destruction of Warsaw and Rotterdam . . . now the biter has been bitten, and the process will continue until utter defeat of the Nazi-Fascist regimes."

Eden mentioned in his speech that construction of British merchantment is mounting, while losses are decreasing, and destruction of U-boats also is on the rise.

No Plea Of Neutral Will Halt Bombings

(Editor's note: The United Nations air assaults on Axis-occupied Europe are discussed in the following article by Major Paul C. Raborg, military analyst and author of "Mechanized Might.")

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
Written Especially For International News Service

NEW YORK, May 28.—British deputy prime minister, Major Clement R. Atlee, told the House of Commons that no neutral and no enemy will divert the United Nations from their vigorous prosecution of the war by air bombings and other legitimate methods until such time as complete victory is attained by the democracies.

The United Nations air assault of Axis-occupied Europe, with its ever growing fury of intensity, is truly softening the German people against the day when their country will be invaded, and when the death blow will be delivered to Corporal Hitler and his Axis ideology. These air assaults are accomplishing far more than the softening process. The terrific destruction of war production centers, communications shipping, and harbor installations, will, when that day of invasion comes, save the lives of literally tens of thousands of soldiers of the United Nations, who will advance to the assault of Axis-held Europe.

U. S. - Britain In Agreement On War Plan

President Roosevelt And Prime Minister Churchill Complete Strategy Program

OFFENSIVES WILL BE GIVEN IMPETUS

By WILLIAM E. ZIMMERMAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, May 28.—With the combined American and British staffs in agreement on the future conduct of the war, preparations were underway today to intensify offensive action against the Axis on both the European and Pacific fronts.

The White House announcement of the successful conclusion of the strategy talks between President Roosevelt, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and their military staffs strengthened the belief that the war will soon be stepped up against Japan as well as Germany and Italy.

In Complete Agreement

That any difference of opinion which might have existed between the American and British military advisers on the future strategy of the war has been ironed out was seen indicated in the nature of the White House announcement, which said:

"The conference of the combined staffs in Washington has ended in complete agreement on future operations in all theaters of the war."

The terse statement was regarded both in Washington and London as indicative of completion of elaborate plans not only for the launching of a second front in Europe, but for the speeding up of operations against Japan.

Some quarters predicted that one of the first results of the conferences probably would be appointment of a supreme commander of Allied forces on the European front.

Leading candidates mentioned for the post of supreme commander are Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, com-

Further Cuts In Gasoline Seen

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The threat of further cuts in gasoline hung heavily over the roadways of the Atlantic seaboard today as the more than 50,000 buses and taxicabs in 13 states and the District of Columbia began operating under an enforced 20 per cent mileage curtailment

It was evident that supplies to civilian transportation will become even less in the immediate weeks to come. ODT Director Eastman warned that if current allotments do not fill the bills of essential transportation, the agency will order further trimming.

The American Automobile Association continued to report the failure of eastern gas stations to open their pumps to the public. Many of the stations were without any stocks at all. Some admitted having a few gallons which they were holding for the emergencies of doctors and others.

SESSIONS PROGRESS AT WESTMINSTER

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, May 28—Appointment of 100 ministers and elders to eighteen standing committees by Moderator W. Bruce Wilson constituted the principal feature of Thursday's session of the 85th General Assembly of the United Presbyterian church of North America meeting here at Westminster College.

A memorial address by Dr. Robert W. Gibson, Pittsburgh, Pa., and reports on baptism and preparation for church membership were also presented.

Giving a report on chaplains, Rev. Virgiln M. Cosby, Washington, D. C., the denomination's representative on the General Commission on Army and Navy chaplains, said that the church now has 57 chaplains in service, 42 in the Army and 15 in the Navy, while two years ago there were only five United Presbyterian chaplains serving. Stressing the urgent need for more chaplains, Reverend Cosby declared that by this summer, the denomination will have provided more than its quota to both the Army and Navy.

W. J. Jaroshevich, president of the Churches of Christ in Europe, Dr. J. M. Bader, of the Federal Council of Churches, and John C. Baker, of the War Relocation Authority, were among the representatives of other church bodies who addressed the assembly yes-

HEDY LAMARR IS MARRIED AGAIN

Brunette Screen Beauty Takes Third Husband At Beverly Hills Last Night

(International News Service)

HOLLYWOOD, May 28—Hedy Lamarr was a bride for a third time today.

The brunette screen beauty was married last night to John Loder, also of the films.

Lacking the slightest trace of Hollywood fanfare, it was a quiet wedding, attended only by four close friends and the bride's mother, Mrs Gertrude Kiesler.

The ceremony was performed by Judge Cecil D. Holland at the Beverly Hills home of Mrs. Conrad Veidt. The bride's costume was simple to the point of severity. She wore a black velvet suit and a collarless white blouse

Sir Charles Mendl was best man and Lady Elsie Mendl was matron of honor.

Following the ceremony, a champagne toast to the newlyweds was the only celebration of the event. There was no reception. Nor, for the present at least is there to be a honeymoon or wedding trip. Both are working on pictures now in production and are to report back to their studios today.

The marriage was the third for both Miss Lamarr and Loder. The star's previous marriages were to Fritz Mandl, Austrian munitions maker, and to Gene Markey, Hollywood producer and writer.

British Again Make Huge Air Raid On Essen

Hundreds Of Biggest Bombers Blast At Krupp Armaments Works

CENTRAL GERMANY IS ALSO ATTACKED

By LEO V. DOLAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, May 28—Hundreds of Britain's biggest bombers blasted the industrial city of Essen, home of the Krupp armaments works in "great strength" during the night, the air ministry announced today.

A dispatch by the German news agency, DNB, broadcast by the Berlin radio admitted that Essen was "heavily damaged."

The bombardment of Essen, in the heart of the Reich's fire-ridden and flood-ravaged Ruhr, followed a sharp attack just before dark by speedy Mosquito bombers on vital optical plants at Jena in central Germany.

Bombing Cycle Continues

The cycle of bombings was continued when other forces of British bombers set out from England before dawn for attacks apparently aimed at northern France.

The squadrons which hit the Ruhr were accompanied by bomber command craft which laid mines in enemy-controlled waters.

This late night mission cost the British 23 aircraft, indicating that a force of at least 500 bombers had taken part.

The additional waves of RAF craft went into action shortly after the return from Germany of the strong force of Lancasters, Stirlings and Halifaxes.

WASHINGTON, May 28—The navy reported today that American forces were engaged in violent "hand-to-hand" fighting against the Japanese on Attu Island in the Aleutians, as it revealed that U. S. troops were storming the last two enemy positions on the embattled island.

The U. S. assaults which began two days ago and apparently were continuing indicated that American forces were attempting to slash the last two Jap positions into small pockets of resistance.

Gain Several Points

"U. S. army troops gained several important points along the ridge south of Chichagof Corridor," the navy said. "Hard hand-to-hand fighting over rugged terrain continued."

Indict 14 On Drug Charges

Allege Sulfadiazine Tablets Stolen From Laboratories And Sold In Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA May 28.—Bail was set today for a North Philadelphia physician, seven druggists and six other persons charged by a federal grand jury with stealing and selling more than 50,000 sulfadiazine tablets intended for America's armed forces.

Three negro employes, according to FBI agents, smuggled the vital drugs from the laboratories of Sharp & Dohme and sold them at from $9.50 to $22 a bottle to the physician, Dr. John Leonard Brill, and the druggists. The regular retail price is approximately $30 a bottle.

Theft of the tablets began last November and was first noted by a salesman who discovered some on a local pharmacist's shelf despite a label designating them for foreign shipment, authorities said.

All 14 defendants were indicted separately on 16 counts covering conspiracy, which carries a penalty of two years' imprisonment, a $10,000 fine or both. The physician and the pharmacists were also charged with receiving stolen goods, while the three negro employes of Sharp & Dohme were indicted for theft of the drugs meant for the armed services.

Judge Guy K. Bard fixed bail at $2500 for Dr. Brill and Sidney J. Merves, one of the druggists, and $1500 for the others.

ed Lightning fighters strafed a 50-foot freighter in the gulf of Palmas. Other P-38 squadrons joined with Warhawks in once again striking at the harbor defenses and artillery installations on bomb-scarred Pantelleria, causing a heavy explosion in one group of buildings at the harbor's edge.

These attacks, carried out yesterday afternoon, were followed in the evening hours by new raids by both Lightnings and Warhawks on the south coast of the island bastion.

Although the aerial assaults showed a slight decline in fury for the first time since the current offensive was launched, they were in sufficient force to keep the important enemy targets under fire and to prevent the Axis from recovering from the earlier blows.

should never attempt to hasten the establishment, or to force the establishment of a second front in Europe. The high command only knows that extent of damage which it wishes to inflict on Nazi military targets before an invasion is inaugurated. The directing hand of the armed forces will learn through military intelligence when the German morale has reached the breaking points because of bombings.

When it reaches this breaking point is the time to invade. Therefore all laymen and observers on the sidelines should stop attempting to say that a second European front is an immediate necessity.

Moves which started in Spain condemning bombings urged that air attacks be outlawed by both sides. This Spanish attitude almost of a certainty is of Axis origin. It means that the air assaults on Europe are becoming more devastating than Hitler, Hermann Goering, and their satellite leaders can stand. Everyone should remember that merciless air attacks were inaugurated by the Axis. When London and England were subjected to frightful air bombings, the Axis made no mention that it was time the air war should be outlawed. When the Axis nations feel that bombings should be outlawed is just the time for the United Nations to double and treble their assaults against Nazi-controlled Europe, And the more our bombings are continued, the more lives will be saved in that coming final offensive against the continent of Europe.

German war production cannot stand this terrific pounding. Already reports have come out of Germany to the effect that she is moving her armament factories from western Europe to southeastern Europe. New airplane factories are operating in Yugoslavia. There has been such a great concentration of industry at Vienna that a real housing shortage is reported.

Termination of the Allied conferences 16 days after Churchill and his advisers arrived at the White House, came as the United Nations were blasting Europe and driving on the Aleutian Islands on the northern route to Japan.

That the devastating bombing attacks on the European end of the Axis would be stepped up was indicated by high officials both in Washington and London.

Secretary of War Stimson in the American capital said that "the strength of the American and British bomber commands is increasing steadily and raids such as the recent one at Dortmund will be carried out with increasing frequency."

In London, Clement R. Attlee, deputy prime minister, declared that "the destruction of the Axis war potential by air bombing is the vital, major feature of our offensive."

Russia troop concentrations and military targets were answered by Soviet fliers who hammered persistently at Nazi positions on the shrinking bridgehead opposite the Kerch Peninsula in the Crimea.

German Claims

(A Berlin broadcast of a report by the German news agency DNB said that assaults by an army of 150,000 Russians had forced the Germans to give up a strip of territory several miles wide and a mile and a half deep but claimed that later all breaches in the Nazi positions had been restored.

(The Nazi-operated Paris radio said it was believed in Berlin that the Russian offensive is a prelude to "operations exceptionally grave in scope." The broadcast suggested that the Soviet troops were aiming at regaining control of the Kerch Straits separating the Taman and Kerch peninsulas.

(Reuter's quoted the Finnish radio as stating that the Russians "already seem to have the offensive" and that Soviet "concentrations in the past several weeks indicate an offensive on a scale equal to any previous major Russian offensive.)

The noon communique of the Soviet high command said that Russian long-range aircraft had raided several enemy airdromes, causing many fires and explosions, but the locale of these bombings was not given.

penetrated a part of Fish-Hook Ridge, about one and five-eighths miles southwest of Chichagof Harbor.

"Fighting continues in order to clear the Japanese from the high peaks in the vicinity," the navy added.

In another attack, American troops moved "to eliminate the enemy from the ridge south of Lake Cories," the other main Japanese position. The navy said this attack "is in progress."

LOCAL BICYCLIST TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Richard Lach, 11, 202 South Pine street, received a laceration of his left leg and body bruises while riding a bicycle which was struck by a car op rated by Allen P. Johnston, R. D. 4, at Walnut and Main streets at 5:30 p. m. Thursday. Police took the boy to the New Castle hospital.

cent of its public quota, which is amazing, and the leaders there, H. R. Smith and R. Charles Stiefel did a real job."

Mr. McKee complimented John J. Maher, New Castle chairman, for the work of his committees and before turning the chairmanship over paid a high tribute to the Greater New Castle Association and to its executive vice president, Roger Jewett. "The GNCA offices were our headquarters and Mr. Jewett was in charge," said Mr. McKee. Without the man and the association our work would have been much more difficult." He then turned the meeting over to Mr. Jewett who acted as chairman for the rest of the evening.

Flags Arrive

Mr. Jewett produced the flag and pennant awarded to Lawrence county and said they would be presented formally to the county at a celebration to be held sometime in June. A committee to prepare for the celebration was named with T. J. Schill, secretary of the Ellwood City Chamber of Commerce as chairman. This committee will meet and plan the time and details of the flag presentation.

Mr. Jewett then called for reports of various committees and among them were the publicity committee, headed by Paul Dingledy; the speakers' committee, headed by Dr. G. S. Bennett, and Judge W. Walter Braham, co-chairman of the drive.

A. R. Heismann, field representative of the U. S. Treasury department, was introduced and expressed his pride in his home county's achievement. After congratulating each one of the executive committee personally Mr. Heismann said, "that job was done. It was an April victory, now we are looking to the September campaign."

A forum was conducted in which each of the executive committee expressed his ideas as to improvements in methods and procedure in the September bond drive. When the drive arrives, Lawrence county will be ready.

to another concentrated assault by hundreds of the heaviest planes in the British arsenal capable of carrying bombs weighing 8,000 pounds was indicated from reports by observers on the southeast English coast. They said that a continuous drone of bombers streaking toward the continent for some time.

Lose 23 Aircraft

The Nazis made claim to downing only 20 of the four-engined bombers.

The evening attack by Mosquito bombers was concentrated on optical plants at Jena in central Germany.

The initial announcement by the air ministry on the Essen attack said:

"Bombers in great strength attacked the Ruhr last night. Essen was one of the main objectives.

"Mines were laid in enemy waters.

"Twenty-three aircraft are missing."

Essen, bombed for the 56th time last night, is situated almost midway between Duesseldorf and Dortmund to the northeast. Duesseldorf was blasted in the early hours of Wednesday and Dortmund between 1 a. m. and 2 a. m. Monday in the greatest saturation bombings ever conducted anywhere in the world.

The unhappy distinction of being the most-bombed city in the world is held by Essen, vital not only as a manufacturing center was also as a hub of railways which radiate to all the principal towns in the Westphalian iron and coal fields.

Prior to this latest attack the R. A. F. had unloaded 10,000 tons of explosives on Essen. Essen was the second of three Reich production centers to be hammered by 1,000-plane raids last year. Less than 24 hours after vast areas of Cologne were laid waste May 30, 1942, 1,000 bombers appeared over Essen.

dumps and kindled fires visible 75 miles, indicating tremendous damage to the Jap base.

Pepper Ground Personnel

While the Allied bombers rained down large fragmentation missiles, escorting long-range fighter planes continually peppered ground personnel, buildings and anti-aircraft positions.

The Japs sent up no intercepting planes, but their ground defenses shot down one Allied fighter. At least two enemy planes on the ground caught two direct bomb hits.

Madang, another Jap base in New Guinea which the day before suffered an attack similar to the assault on Lae again was hit by medium bombers. They flew in at low levels and bombed and strafed the airdrome radio station, enemy headquarters and building areas.

Enemy-held villages all along the northern coast of New Guinea from Finschhafen to Madang also were strafed.

Other medium bombers attacked the Langgoer airdrome in the Kei Islands, between New Guinea and Australia, for a second successive day. The enemy base at Timika, in Dutch New Guinea, also was raided.

The Japs retaliated by sending a force estimated at 31 bombers and fighters over New Guinea coastal territory held by the Allies. They caused only slight damage at the Morobe-Mambare and Douglas harbors.

THE NEW FRONTIER

EVERY great war opens a new frontier. Prior to the First World War, the frontiers were geographic. The Civil War was followed by the great westward trek of war weary men and women looking for new opportunities and a new life. With the close of the current conflict, at least a major portion of the new frontier, like that of 25 years ago, will be in the industrial field. But instead of automobiles, it will lie this time in the scientific development of the nation's natural resources.

Research men of the coal, metal mining and oil industries, working quietly in laboratories surrounded by military secrecy, have lifted the veil of the future. They have seen the new frontier in all its promise, and enough hints regarding its nature and extent have leaked out to stir the imagination of the man in the street.

The miracles of the sulfa drugs, derivatives of coal, are just one phase of the coming revolution in discovery and research. Rubber synthetics are multiplying almost by the score, along with plastics and other materials, each of which can easily mean the establishment and growth of an entire new industry. Beyond these is a vast realm of discovery of which the public as yet knows nothing.

This country has just begun to grow. Individual initiative and the capitalistic system are inseparable from the American republic type of government. They have barely begun to flex their muscles. If the way is kept clear, they will make the past seem puny by comparison with the future. The way for future achievements can be kept clear only by a steadfast resolution that in this country government must not be the sinister competitor of free enterprise. This is as true of the natural resource industries as of the smallest popcorn stand. These industries hold the future of a new frontier. It will never materialize except by the efforts of free men under the stimulant of private ownership and management.

EDSEL FORD, ABLE INDUSTRIALIST

Edsel Ford's father is a figure of almost legendary might in American industry. That the son was not overshadowed by the parent, but was a successful industrialist in his own right, is a tribute to his ability and accomplishments.

The younger Ford was no figurehead. He was president of the Ford Motor Company in fact as well as in name. Between father and son there was a strong bond of affection, but Henry Ford's appraisal of Edsel's contribution to the success of the enterprise was based on the latter's actual achievements.

Edsel was born when his father was completing his first automobile in a barn in Detroit. His death comes when the great Ford industry is converted totally to war, turning out bombers, aviation engines, armor plate and a host of other war-essential products.

In the years between he played a vitally constructive part in the spectacular progress of the Ford Company. He was responsible for the abandonment of the old Model T for a car with a gear shift. It was on his initiative also that the Fords ventured first into the field of aviation.

In two wars he, his remarkable father and their industry have performed service of incalculable worth to the Republic. Stricken at 49, Edsel Ford is taken away at the peak of his usefulness. He was too young to die.

"THE WOUNDED DO NOT DIE"

The Second World War, considering its duration and its vast extent, has been singularly restrained in its consumption of human life, a circumstance which provides cause for rejoicing and which also inspires speculation as to the reasons.

The war is not yet over and its future character cannot definitely be envisioned. But to date it has approached in deadliness the years from 1914 to 1918, which witnessed the greatest human slaughter in history.

It is estimated that United States Army casualties in the Tunisian campaign totaled approximately 18,000, including killed, wounded and captured. But in the Argonne 6,589 men were killed in a single week. Total battle deaths in the First World War numbered 7,450,200, with Russia then, as now, making the greatest sacrifice, with 1,700,000 dead. Germany was next with 1,600,000 and France and Great Britain followed with 1,385,300 and 900,000, respectively. The American casualty list included 50,000 killed and 236,000 wounded.

So far in this war, the embattled nations have been spared the appalling slaughter of Verdun, the Somme and the Argonne, notwithstanding that the war is now approaching the end of its fourth year.

The reasons for this merciful aspect of the war may be found in the quick termination of the war in Western Europe, which lasted only a few weeks and was attended by negligible casualties, the changed character of warfare, through which the deadly impact of the assault is now borne largely by armored units instead of by infantry advancing in the face of decimating enemy artillery and machine gun fire, and the greater effectiveness of the medical service.

"The wounded don't die," was the theme of an office of war information report a few days ago on the treatment of United States war casualties. "Never before in the history of the world has the fighting man had available the medical care and equipment the United States now furnishes its defenders," the report said. More than 97 per cent of the wounded are saved in consequence of new drugs, better organization of medical personnel, supplies and equipment, and the swift transportation of the wounded from the fields of battle to base hospitals.

Today it is possible to bring the wounded home from Africa by air in three days, which is both a material and a morale factor in contributing to recovery. These are heartening aspects of a war which has been sufficiently grim up to the present and which is now approaching its most critical phase.

It is much easier being a ham actor now than it was in the good old days when potatoes, cabbages, and eggs were cheap.

A lot of fellows in their second childhood think they are quite a card when they go out for the evening—usually they are just a deuce.

Ten million more acres of crop land have been put in production in the United States this year. Whatever the demand, American enterprise is always there to meet it.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

MANY MOTHERS GUIDED BY CROWD PSYCHOLOGY

One reason why there is so much juvenile delinquency is that so many mothers are guided by crowd psychology in bringing up their children.

Suppose, for example, a mother decides that her child shall always make a bee-line for his house when the street lights appear. Suppose she tells her child of 10 he must observe this rule to the letter. Immediately the protesting child tells his mother that no other child must do so. The chances are more than even that the mother surrenders unconditionally at once. She may, however, hold out for a few days but, after some argument with the youngster, may weaken and eventually succumb.

She just can't endure the pressure. Anyway, she begins to imagine that the child's personality may be warped if she sticks to her guns. What if he should grow up to be different?

By this time she has forgotten all about the physical and moral dangers to her child which she had considered earlier. What is more, she hardly recalls any such matters touched on by child experts at her club, church or PTA or by any article or book she has read. If she is a college graduate, she almost surely can't recall any warnings of moral dangers, just warnings against restraining and inhibiting the child. So this mother probably becomes one of the 99 out of 100 mothers of America.

Too Late for Restraint

Hopefully, however, a few mothers have been disillusioned, yet the children of some of these mothers are 10, 12 or 14 years of age, almost or entirely beyond her control. After a few more years, when juvenile delinquency may have become a national disgrace, many more young mothers will resolve to break loose from the shackles of child psychology.

They will use their common sense and take responsibility for protecting their children and begin when they are little to teach them the meaning of NO. Nor will they relax controls too rapidly thereafter.

My special bulletin, "How To Teach the Tot the Meaning of NO", may be had without cost by writing me at 235 East 48th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it.

What is more, no one has proved conclusively that requiring a child to be different need harm his personality. It won't be in a family of love and understanding, where the home is a place to do things and have wholesome fun to which neighbor children are attracted to share in the good times.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. Can a parent who disapproves the girl friend or boy friend of the son or daughter ever afford to be rude to the "friend".

A. I think not.

Q. What may the working mother count on as her best means of guiding her growing child well?

A. Increasing understanding, genuine affection and companionship with this child while at home with him and cultivating in him at home good habits of self-reliance, responsibility and co-operation; neglecting things of less importance for the sake of relaxation, poise and self-control.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

DOMESTIC SCIENCE

At evening when the meal is done,
And clear the board once more,
The men-folk gather every one
To talk their problems o'er.
Meanwhile the women, old and young,
Against the hostess' wishes—
And may their praises long be sung—
Go out and do the dishes!

When just a little lad was I,
Just as they do today,
When they had finished with the pie
The men-folk moved away,
And while they told brave tales anew
Of bears or flying fishes
The women-folk took time to do
The silver and the dishes.

In every home it stays the same,
In every land, I think,
The men-folk seek the hearth fire's flame,
The women-folk the sink.
The men-folk sit about and smoke
And spend the time with fable,
And leave it to the women-folk
To clear the dining table.

But here's the dream of free men all,
The reason war is made:
That peace shall bless the dining hall,
And keep the table laid.
And when at last the war is won
And all its horror passes,
The men will chat, with supper done,
While women shine the glasses.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 8:19. Sun rises tomorrow 5:35.

When a congressman don't vote on a bill you can bet he is thinking about the people back home.

The dictators in Europe don't ask questions and ask the people what they want. They just give orders and if they are not obeyed—you know.

It takes a lot of trouble for a lot of people to find out all about the ration book.

Isn't it strange that we do not experience remorse until after the neighbors have found out about our misdeeds?

It might give aid and comfort to the enemy were we to tell where this celebration occurred but be that as it may, two marines were celebrating the return of a third from sick leave by having dinner in a swank restaurant. Some of their enjoyment of the meal was dampened when they got the check, and as they left the place, one of them exclaimed: "Mike, God will punish that profiteer."

Mike glanced about to see they were unobserved, and said, as he displayed an array of silverware, "He has already punished him."

We have wondered why curfews are confined to young girls. The boys do the most damage.

Another thing beauty operators are good for is to serve as a source of information for "keyhole peeping" commentators.

After a lot of people have used more gasoline than they should have, they are surprise that there could be a shortage of it.

The father of a college student was shaking hands with the professor and said cordially: "I'm delighted to meet you. Jack has mentioned you in his letters . . . You know, he took algebra from you this term."

"Pardon me," said the professor. "Jack was exposed to it, but he did not take it."

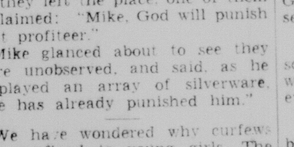
Experience is a dead loss if you cannot sell it for more than it cost.

About the only time now when people tell about the lot of money they have carried around is when they tell the police after it has been stolen.

Now we hear of meatless sandwiches. In the past there were many of them that were as near meatless as possible.

Bigotry makes an insecure cornerstone for any church.

The only thing that will make some people obey an air raid will be by a bomb dropping on them.



A man wonders how his wife gets so many things in one handbag. For that much stuff he needs thirteen pockets.

Sixteen-year-old son: "Aren't there any short cuts to the Road of Success, Dad. Does it have to be a long, hard road?"

Dad: "Yes, son. Our prisons are filled with men who took the short cuts."

Very often the real reason for shortage of many things is because some people are holding them for more money.

We can stand it if there is only a shortage of luxuries.

The draftee who had been placed in 4F went to his physician for advice on how to build himself up and the M. D. advised him: "I caution you to avoid all forms of excitement."

"But, Doc," whimpered the patient, "Surely, I can look 'em over on the street!"

Approbation is far more effective in making people like you than reproval.

When a woman gets real old she is not ashamed to tell her age. In fact the older she gets the prouder she is to tell it.

The mayor of East Liverpool, O., is trying to be re-elected for the fifth time. Some people just enjoy punishment.

Wonder if pleasure driving is going to a golf course. Those who cannot play the game very good may think it is not.

One reason school girls have such clean, wholesome complexions is that they wash their faces with soap.

Next Sunday is Memorial Day. Give it the proper respect it deserves.

We will have to back up our soldiers at the front to win this war. Do all you can for them in every way.

DOMESTIC SCIENCE COURSE FOR BRIDE-TO-BE

"A friend and I had a discussion on the advisability of preparing daughters for marriage. I say it is unnecessary and that when a girl is ready for housekeeping she will soon learn the technique. My friend disputes this idea. She thinks that girls should have at least a rudimentary knowledge of domestic science, at least, and other intricate items of housekeeping. What is your opinion?"—Mother.

Answer: I know many women who are excellent cooks and housekeepers but who never studied domestic science or had any experience with these arts before marriage. These, however, are a success despite, not because of, their lack of training. Ordinarily, the knowledge of being a good homemaker is not congenital but rather acquired as the result of effort and instruction.

A girl starting on a career as a dancer or a secretary is given extensive training in her life's work. Yet a mother will let a girl start out on a housekeeping career with no knowledge of money values or dietetics. So that the poor man must for awhile endure financial and digestive troubles. More marriages are wrecked through money arguments than through any other difficulties; yet with a little domestic and financial responsibility before marriage, a girl is enabled from the start to handle her daily problems with intelligence and assurance.

Even a business girl who is used to spending her money on her personal desires should be given instruction on budgeting out money in small portions to fit the family income. For cash, like ration points, must spread over a definite period, otherwise disaster will result.

"But I'm not shabby," said the miser.

"Oh, but you are," said his friend. "Remember your father. He was always neatly, even elaborately, dressed. His clothes were always well-tailored and of the best material."

"Ah, ha," chuckled the miser. "Why these clothes I'm wearing were father's!"

Polish Government-In-Exile Not Popular Masses Of Polish Are Termed Pro-Russian "Refugee Press" Headache To Their Hosts

By CHARLES P. STEWART
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, May 28.—To countries that have exiles on their hands, to be sheltered and kept alive such guests can be first-class nuisances.

The other day I had occasion to refer to the Polish government-in-exile—in London at present. An exiled government is supposed to be made up of representatives of their home folk, in lands overrun by Axis invaders—folk who subscribe wholeheartedly to their exiles, spokesmanship and will welcome them back as soon as the bigger democracies have won the war and set the liberty-loving little peewees free.

In part this reasoning doubtless is correct. Yet it is not altogether so.

Apparently it is not true in Poland's case. The masses of the Poles seemingly are pretty pro-Russian and anti-Nazi, but their pre-war leaders were just the other way. The Polish common element was pretty Communistic, but the aristocracy was pro-Junker, a la Germany.

The Junker element was the one that beat it out, into exile, early in the war. It is a specimen among the exiled governments that we hear so much about.

Being sympathetically pro-Nazi, why did it head in toward democratic shelter? Well, it did so, unquestionably, because it preferred taking chances with Nazism than with Communism or even democracy. Its locally popular democratic crowd probably put a firecracker under it, too. The chances are that it was not physically safe for its leaders to stick on the job in their own various neighborhoods.

Hence the government-in-exile—consisting of reactionary Poles.

The democracies welcomed them, believing them to be genuine exiles, whereas they were just Quislings, watching for an opportunity to stir up discord between their own aggregation and the totalitarians—for their own ultimate benefit.

The invaded countries are not all crooked basically, but the situation is convenient for a certain class of exiles to take advantage of.

The difficulty is that these exiles are exceedingly difficult to identify.

An on-the-spot government is really a government.

An exiled government is darned vague. It has no headquarters to refer anything to.

The exiles profess to speak for somebody, but for WHOM?

How far are they trustworthy?

And a new complication has arisen of late.

The "refugee press" is raising hades democratically, according to Director of Information Brendon Bracken of Britain.

Bracken's holler relates to the "exile press."

It scatters its propaganda from democratic sources, he alleges.

His essential complaint is that the propaganda is not so much addressed to disunionization among the conflicting powers as to disunity among the Allies.

Director Bracken had this subject before the house of commons recently. His version is that now is the time to muzzle Communism. Bracken's proposition is legitimate. But—

What about the Russian program?

And—Gosh!—What about the Japs?

I am not so sure that Japan cannot be civilized.

Varying governments do not conflict. There is no telling which is which.

Let's get them together.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN
(International News Service Staff Writer)

The 43-inch skirt is the newest war measure.

Not content with taking the cuffs off our pants and the tails off our shirts the war production board has gone snipping in the ladies department.

Snipping . . . not snooping.

From now on no girl can get a double-breasted suit no matter how big her problems.

And she can't get a 44-inch skirt unless she fills out a form and sends it to Washington.

It has to be a special form. The one she has now won't do no matter how well it is filled out.

We should be seeing a lot of 72-in. girls in 43-inch skirts . . . quite a lot.

Hems used to be measured from the floor. They were 11 or 12 inches, or whatever the stylists decreed from the floor.

The new system puts the hem anywhere from ankle to adenoids all depending on whether the girl is a teeney-weeney or a look-at-the-size-of-that-one!

Thought for the day: WPB—We peek-a-boo.

Hints On Etiquette

An invitation to a church wedding does not require a reply. If a card of invitation to the reception or breakfast is inclosed, however, the recipient should sent a note of acceptance or rejection—regrets—as soon as possible so that the hostess may plan accordingly.

The World and the Mud Puddles

WAR IN THE EAST.

Major Harvey K. Greenlaw, who has been with General Claire Chennault's Flying Tigers, answered a newspaper man's question the other day as to why we no not send more planes into China. His answer is particularly interesting because Chennault, Wavell, Stilwell, Churchill and the President are believed to be mapping strategy for China and Burma. Major Greenlaw said:

"If we had shipped ten thousand four-motored bombers to China we couldn't have flown them because there is no oil there. A crude kind of oil made of fish oil is all that China has produced and that won't run motors. The loss of Burma is what put us in the hole over there. With no Burma Road our only route to China is over the world's highest mountain range, where there are no roads, but plenty of weather. Transport planes can carry considerable loads over those mountains, but first of all they have to carry enough gasoline to fly them back. That means they can carry very little else. If it hadn't been for the loss of Burma we would have proceeded much faster in China."

Major Greenlaw went on to say that while he was with the Flying Tigers they often considered plans for attacking Hainan and Formosa, Japan's great supply depots for the Southwest Pacific. Incidentally, a few days ago Hainan was attacked by Liberators, and although Greenlaw has not been with Chennault since last July, that attack seems to him to be significant. The Major has been in telephonic communication with General Chennault since he arrived in Washington and is eager to return to China with him. He said that Chennault had made a vow to Chaing Kai-shek never to leave China until the Japs are driven from it.

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Professor Reinhold Niebuhr of New York speaking at the Assembly of the Congregational Union in London admonished his hearers to pity and forgiveness when the foe is vanquished.

I cannot help but think of what Samuel Johnson said in Boswell's Life on the subject of pity:

"If a madman were to come into this room with a stick in his hand, no doubt we should pity the state of his mind, but our primary consideration would be to take care of ourselves."

We pity the state of mind that brought about this war.

But how can we pity those who had no pity in their hearts?

How can we forgive the wanton murderers of innocent children, the vile beasts who killed and raped and maimed?

Are we expected to forgive the maniac Hitler, the gloating Goering, the liar Goebbels?

How can we ever forgive a Tojo or a Hirohito?

No, Professor Niebuhr, we might forgive the repentant and the weak.

We might pity those who were forced by a dictator's knout to do the things that they did not want to do.

But every account I have read, every returning soldier or war correspondent with whom I have talked told me the same stories.

The Germans and the Japs gloat over their foul deeds. They brag about their murders and their rapes.

But when they are hurt or caught themselves they squeal like stuck pigs, crawl on their bellies and ask for mercy.

Pity and forgiveness are too sacred to waste on creatures like these.

Liquor Rationing For State Likely

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 28.—There was an indication today that the Pennsylvania Liquor Control board may place in effect a rationing program similar to the Ohio system.

The indication was in the form of a 200-word statement issued by the board in which it asserted that "Pennsylvanians are watching with interest the Ohio liquor rationing plan which goes into effect on Tuesday, June 1."

Chairman Frederick T. Gelder disclosed last week that the board was considering a card system but refused to reveal when the rationing program would be started by the 578 state-operated stores.

Soldier Is Human G. I. Encyclopedia For Camp Shenango

Receptionist At Army Camp Tactfully Traces Officers Or Minds Babies

(Special To The News)

GREENVILLE, May 27—A human counterpart for a G. I. directory or encyclopedia is Pfc. Eddie Gifford of Headquarters Detachment, DEML, receptionist and information center clerk at Post Headquarters.

His is the job to smile at the tale of woe and if the occasion demands, diplomatically attempts to find some harried visitor's "John". Duties range from furnishing desired information, tracing drivers, 'recons', jeeps and officers' sign-out rosters. (Officers of the regular station complement are required to sign in and out of the Post). Unofficial duties are almost always sure to add zest to his position.

What Would You Do?

"Soldier, would you please mind my baby," exclaimed one visiting mother. At a loss to refuse this unorthodox request, Clifford gracefully consented. Although not a married man, this incident proved befitting for future experience. "I sure breathed a sigh of relief when the child's mother finally came back," he explained.

Hosts of friends have been acquired as a result of his pleasant disposition. One recent morning, a visiting general inquired of a certain person. Having received the desired information, the general further questioned Eddie regarding his duties. Wreaths of smiles beamed from his pleasant countenance as the general inquired, "Son, you seem to know all the answers, can you tell me what hill it is the boys go over?"

Natural Aptitude

Prior to Gifford's entry to the Army, he worked for the past fourteen years in the grocery and meat stores as a clerk thus qualifying him with a natural aptitude in dealing with people. He was born and raised at Newport, Rhole Island, until he was inducted into the Army on November 4, 1942. From Camp Pickett, Virginia with the Medical Corps, he was transferred to Camp Shenango with the DEML.

A twinkle comes into his blue eyes every time he relates his experience with the present pet of Post Headquarters.

Among the countless number of visitors approximately a month and a half ago was a recalcitrant black and white cat. Found in a semi-wild state, the feline shied away at all overtures at friendship despite its persistency at remaining outside the door or within the area. Various tidbits and other tasty delicacies seemed to no avail until the thermometer hovered somewhere within the zero mark. The chill Shenango blast was a little too much for our furry visitor. With the smell of food and warmth inside the building, the feline ventured forth. Gradually relenting, the friendly intruder finally accepted Ed's kindness.

The feline is now almost an inseparable pal of Gifford's, adding another responsibility to his innumerable duties, that of caring for it.

OPINION RECEIVED

A copy of the opinion of the State Supreme court in the case of Charles I. Wetmore against the Peoples' Mutual Building and Loan association has been received by Judge W. Walter Braham. The opinion dismisses the petition of Mr. Wetmore to have a judgment satisfied.

The case was one in which Mr. Wetmore was paying off a mortgage in a stock company form of building and loan. The company got into financial straits and insisted that Mr. Wetmore owed on his stock in addition to the balance of his mortgage.

Apparently the Supreme court passed over several points argued by counsel for Mr. Wetmore in which he showed that the wrong stock serial number was used in his case and there was some confusion as to whether or not the stock had been issued.

Wealthy Spinster Dies In Gas Blast

Philanthropist Bequeaths Body To Medical Research In Note Found At Home

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, May 28.—A wealthy middle-aged spinster, who bequeathed her body to medical research and was noted for her philanthropies, was killed Thursday in a gas explosion at her fashionable Riverside Drive apartment.

The victim was Miss Gladys B. Deutsch, 50. Apartments on both sides of the Deutsch suite were badly damaged by the blast caused by an open gas jet.

Indicating, police said, that Miss Deutsch might have committed suicide, police and firemen found a note in the wrecked apartment.

"Notice to civilian authorities; gas is escaping at 5 Riverside Drive, Apartment 14-E.

"Send Cadaver, if any, to the nearest institution requiring such supplies for medical research," she had signed her name.

On the reverse side, the note added:

"Gas escaping, don't come in. Take this note to the police."

Miss Deutsch, who, police said inherited a fortune from her father 20 years ago, was an air raid warden and active in other civilian defense activities.

Coarse thimbles were carved from the backbone of a fish by 19th century Eskimos and used to sew thick hides.

Finish Bill For Withholding Tax Effective July 1

First Arrangements Under New Tax Bill Ready For Congress And President

FORGIVENESS PLAN FOR '42, '43, LISTED

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 28—Preliminary arrangements for putting into effect on July 1 the 20 percent withholding tax provided under the new pay-as-you-go bill were completed today after senate-house conferees put finishing touches on the measure.

Treasury officials said that actual machinery for deducting the payroll tax will not be set up until the bill is finally passed and becomes law, or until it is known definitely whether President Roosevelt will veto it.

The measure will be sent to the house floor for action Tuesday and passage in both chambers is expected next week to permit starting of the new withholding collection system for salary and wage earners.

Democratic leaders are expected to urge Mr. Roosevelt to approve the bill or at least make it plain to him that a veto would probably make it impossible to enact any kind of tax legislation this year.

The treasury reported that the measure will increase the government's revenue during the next fiscal year by more than $3,000,000,000 after Secretary Morgenthau said that the goal of $16,000,000,000 additional revenue dollars for the year is needed "very, very badly."

Forgiveness Features

In a closed session, the conferees agreed to accept the original house clause for abating in full the income taxes of any member of the armed forces in service during the war and clarified the forgiveness features.

The conferees agreed specifically to the following forgiveness formula:

1. Taxpayers whose tax for 1942 1943, whichever is lower, is $66.67 or less will be forgiven exactly $50.

2. Taxpayers whose tax for 1942 or 1943, whichever is lower, is more than $66.67, will be forgiven 75 percent of the tax.

The year 1937 was also added to the other three base years, 1938, 1939, 1940, used for computing windfall taxes.

Meanwhile, it was disclosed that the internal revenue bureau is ready to print and send out about 150,000,000 exemption certificates to between 2,500,000 and 3,00,000 employers in preparation for the withholding tax as soon as it is known definitely whether the compromise tax bill will become law.

The certificates will be distributed in duplicate to about 60,000,000 workers, who will fill in their family status and turn the original copy back for use by their employers as a guide in deducting the withholding tax.

The tax will be 20 percent of all gross wages or salaries over and above exemption of $24 a week for married persons, $12 a week for single persons and $6 a week for each dependent. Employers would stop deducting the present five percent "Victory Tax" on July 1.

MEMORIAL DAY PARKING RULE

Traffic Lieutenant George S. Kennedy today announced parking of vehicles will be prohibited between 11 a. m. and 4 p. m. Sunday in Washington street between Greenwood avenue and County Line street because of the Memorial Day parade.

Cascade Park Opens Saturday

Concessions Ready And Manager Expects Big Season

Although Memorial day is Sunday, Cascade Park will be opened officially tomorrow, Saturday, according to Joe Alexander, director of city property.

He said that Park Manager Chris Coulthard had informed him that all of the concessions had been made ready and they would operate. Dancing will start at 9 p. m.

The bathing pool, however, will not be open until mid-June. One of the sections has been partitioned off. However, there will be plenty of room for all those who care to swim this summer.

The Park restaurant has been renovated and no doubt it will be as attractive and useful as in past years.

Flowers are in bloom in many of the old and new beds. The plants were reared in the Park greenhouse.

"Despite gasoline conditions I anticipate a great season" said Manager Coulthard.

He said that he bases this upon the number of requests for the privilege of holding outings at the park.

Coulthard said that the Senior High class will hold their outing at the park next Wednesday. It will be the first time they have held the outing at the park, he stated.

Coulthard said a 12 minute bus schedule would be effective.

FARMS AND FARMERS OF LAWRENCE COUNTY

By Lewis C. Dayton, County Agent

MAKE EVERY GALLON OF TRACTOR FUEL COUNT

With thousands of Pennsylvania tractors in daily operation, farmers can contribute substantially to fuel conservation.

More acres covered for fuel used are assured by carrying the radiator temperature between 165 and 185 degrees depending on whether gasoline or fuel oil is used; by frequent checking of spark plug gap; by adjusting the carburetor to the character of the load—too lean a mixture is as wasteful of power as one that is too rich.

Another fuel-saving measure is to give the tractor a full load either by multiple unit implements or by combing operations as much as possible; for example, disk and smoothing harrow. Do not waste power pulling plows that are out of adjustment or dulled cultivating and harrowing equipment.

You may get a copy of Bulletin 441, "Using the Tractor Efficiently" from the Agricultural Extension Office, No. 206 Post Office Bldg., New Castle, for which there is not any charge. From it you can learn how to get the most for your money with the least effort.

KEEP CHICKS GROWING TO GET BEST RESULTS

"Keep them growing" is the suggestion to all poultrymen whether producing meat stock or pullets for future egg production.

Many reasons can be ascribed as the cause of poor or interrupted growth. Chief among these may be management practices for which the poultryman is directly responsible.

Chicks double their weight three times during the first six weeks in the brooder house. After that, the growth is less rapid. Some strains and breeds grow more rapidly than others. Breeding also influences the rate of feathering and time of maturity of growth and egg production. Good nutrition, principally through ample proteins, minerals, and vitamins in the ration fed, influences and contributes to normal growth.

Aside from these, however, are the effect of floor space, ventilation, brooder and house temperature, litter management, size and amount of feeding equipment and roosts. As chicks increase in size, fleshing and feather growth, their requirements change. They need more floor space as well as feeders and watering space, or there will be crowding, feed wastage, and wet litter.

Stirring of the litter daily helps to keep it drier. Roots on wire-covered platforms at three to four weeks will prevent crowding in corners and conserve litter. Cooler brooder temperature promotes feathering and comfort, for as they grow older the chicks need less heat. Ventilation helps keep down house temperature in hot weather and when the sunshine strikes the windows in the middle of the day.

All factors properly adjusted to meet changing requirements of the growing chick, work together to help promote good growing conditions. Their proper application depends upon the individual caretaker. It is up to him to "keep them growing".

MANAGE PASTURES TO UTILIZE FEED BEST

Many farmers in Lawrence county have improved their pasture with lime, fertilizer and manure. Some have seeded down special mixtures containing Ladino clover.

As better and more productive pasture is obtained, the problem of proper management becomes more important. Management must go along with improvement.

Size and productivity of the pasture and the number of stock to be pastured determine the best time to turn out. The idea is to have the grass used as completely as possible while at its best, before it gets over six inches high and before any of it heads. On improved pasture generally it is necessary to turn out several weeks earlier than on unimproved or the stock cannot keep the grass grazed. Large grass is unpalatable and not only is wasted but must be mowed to prevent its smothering out the little white clover which is so desirable in the sod.

Division of the pasture into several areas permits better utilization of the grass during the flush season of May and June. Stock can be placed on the area where the grass is most advanced first, kept there until it is uniformly grazed, and then moved on to the next area. After the first time around, it may not pay to rotate the cattle on pasture, although moving sheep at proper intervals helps to control parasites.

With Ladino clover pastures, it is essential to follow one of two plans: either (1) the pasture must be divided into at least three parts so that an area can be grazed for about a week and then given about two weeks to rest and recover, or (2) the entire area must be pastured lightly, for two hours once or twice a day with the stock spending the rest of their time on the permanent pasture or in a resting lot. Close, continuous grazing will kill Ladino clover in a short time and it is too valuable to take chances with it.

Where the grass has gotten too large to be eaten readily, as it often does on part of the permanent pasture, it should be mowed just as soon as it is evident that it will not be eaten. Dairy cattle will not come back to oversized grass. If mowed early in June before the weather is too hot and dry, it will make a rapid renewal growth which will be readily eaten and weeds will be kept down and prevented from going to seed.

Late mowing improves the appearance of the pasture but otherwise does little good. Leave the mower set to cut closely as in mowing hay. If there is much grass wasted, it may best be raked and removed for hay or bedding.

COLORFAST MATERIALS BEST FOR SLIP COVERS

Slip covers not only protect furniture from wear and dust, but when carefully selected, add desirable color and pattern to a room.

Materials that are closely woven, preshrunk and colorfast to washing and sunlight are best choices for slip covers according to Miss Anna Marie Quinn, home economics extension representative of Lawrence county. Slip covers made from closely woven fabrics will keep dust from sifting through to the upholstery.

The choice of materials is not as extensive as in normal times, she reminds homemakers, but there's still many good fabrics available. These include sail cloths, cretonnes, herringbone twills, chintz and heavy percales. Besides fabrics, most large stores carry a complete supply of weltings for seams, and buttons or snap types closings. The selection in smaller stores would be more limited.

The trend today is to cover different pieces of furniture with materials of different colors instead of patterned materials. A room with too much pattern will appear restless. It's desirable to have only about a fourth of the total area of the room patterned. For example, if walls and rug are plain, figured fabrics can be used for slip covers. On the other hand, plain or self-colored pattern fabrics are the wisest to use if walls and rug are figured.

Homemakers can make their own slip covers, but they must take as much care in fitting and making the covers as they would in making dresses for themselves.

FLYING BOAT RESCUES FOUR ON LIFE RAFT

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 28—Reports from a navy patrol bomber revealed today how the flying boat rescued four survivors of a torpedoed British vessel who had spent 39 days aboard a life raft in the shark-infested waters of the Atlantic.

The bomber was piloted by Lieut. Maurice Kauffman of Wappingers Falls, N. Y., who was on a routine patrol flight when crew members sighted smoke signals on the water.

The plane landed near the survivors, picked them up and flew them to an American base.

More Gas Used Under Rationing Than Before War

Such Is Charge Made For Philadelphia Area By ODT Officer

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 28—The Philadelphia area has been using more gasoline under rationing than at any time before the war, it was charged today by Everett A. Harding, manager of the District Office of Defense Transportation.

Before the war normal consumption in the city and suburbs was 360,000 barrels of 42 gallons each daily, he told the Pennsylvania Retail Coal Merchants association. Under rationing, however, consumption reached peaks of 50,000 to 60,000 barrels above normal, he claimed.

The association re-elected the following officers: Roger B. Jones, of Philadelphia, president; Ebner S. Abrams, Easton, vice president, and Edwin S. Hart, Reading, treasurer.

At a previous session Luther Harr, U. S. bituminous coal consumers' counsel, advocated a federal consumers' counsel empowered to appear in behalf of the public before all regulator agencies of the United States government.

James E. Hardy of Toronto crossed Niagara Falls on a tightrope on July 1 and July 4, 1896. He balanced himself on chairs and did dancing steps on the way over.

Job Shifting Rules Given

U. S. Employment Service Gives Reasons Which Are Cause For Transferring

Reasons considered valid for which statements of availability will be issued by the United States Employment Service office of the War Manpower commission to workers who wish to shift jobs are listed as five at the local USES office, according to George Walter, office manager.

If a particular case does not meet any of these reasons, a request for a statement of availability cannot be granted since in order to prevent needless and harmful shifts in employment, the WMC has ruled that workers engaged in essential industries must, in the national interest, continue in that employment unless their transfer would increase their contribution to the war effort.

Valid Reasons

In an attempt to clarify the situations under which the local USES office is in a position to grant statements of availability, the following list of valid reasons is given:

1—You can perform work of a higher or more needed skill than your employer is able or willing to provide.

2—You have been working part-time for a substantial number of weeks.

3—The distance from your residence to your place of employment is unreasonably great; or transportation is not readily accessible.

4—You are employed at an hourly rate of pay or under working conditions which are substantially less favorable than those prevailing in this community for the same kind of work.

5—You have compelling personal reasons for wanting to change your employment.

Since the national emergency makes it necessary to reduce job-shifting in order not to hamper the production of war materials, statements of availability for a change of employment will be granted only for serious cause—not to suit personal convenience.

However if you wish to change employment and believe that in your case one or more of the reasons given above applies, you may get an application form at the USES office to fill out carefully and completely and leave at the office. Facts as you give them will be verified with your present or last employer.

Bill Jeopardizing Relief Financing Is Vetoed By Martin

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 28.—Gov. Edward Martin on Thursday vetoed a measure which he asserted would jeopardize the state's $24,000,000 relief reimbursement program.

The bill he disapproved would have provided for the divestiture of judgments obtained by county commissioners' sales under the public assistance law. It was sponsored by Rep. Glenn W. Ely (R) Susquehanna and received the unanimous approval of the General Assembly.

The chief executive explained that "the reimbursement program of the department of public assistance... would be considerably hampered and jeopardized since by this bill the commonwealth would lose its liens or a considerable proportion of the 80,000 judgments presently of record against recipients of public assistance and on which the commonwealth estimates that there will be a return of at least $24,000,000."

Dr. Galbreath Will Speak At 'Victory' Convention June 10

Theme of the 105th convention of the Lawrence County Sabbath School association, which will be held at the Epworth Methodist church, New Castle, June 10, morning, afternoon and evening sessions, is "Victory Through Christ in This Crisis".

The convention sermon during the morning session will be delivered by Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president of Westminster college.

Letters are being mailed today to pastors, Sunday school superintendents, county and district officers and departmental superintendents, containing reservation slips for the "Victory" noon dinner and the "Victory" fellowship banquet being served by the ladies of the convention church, under the leadership of Mrs. T. M. Shaffer. They are requesting that reservations be made early.

MAKES BIRD HOUSES FOR CASCADE PARK

Frank Smith, night watchman at Cascade park, has been busy during his spare time in the winter and spring months, making bird houses and squirrel homes out of odds and ends of wood from store packing boxes.

The bird houses have been made in various shapes and styles, four of them from red willows. About 13 of these miniature houses, painted in various colors, which are for Jennie Wren and her husband, have already been put up at points along the "midway" and near the superintendent's office. Some of the houses have removable bottoms which make them easy to clean out. Five extra fancy houses have not yet been put up.

The squirrel homes will be up for permanent use by the fox and red squirrels that frequent the park. Mr. Smith states that it is his desire to help beautify the park; he says the wrens are among the best helpers to gardeners as they consume many of the injurious bugs and insects that infest plant life.

Navy Needs Men For Shore Patrol

Applications must be accompanied by letters of recommendation from their present employer or respective chiefs of police. CHILDREN CAN CATCH WAR NERVES EASILY

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—Warning that war nerves are contagious, Dr. Gerald H. J. Pearson, professor of psychiatry at Temple University, recently advised parents to keep fear of bombings or invasion from their children.

"If a parent believes that invasion or bombing of the United States is possible," he said, "they should say nothing at all to their children. A frightened imagination can make a child mentally sick."

NEWS AND VIEWS AT CAPITAL

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 28.—The failure of Gov. Edward Martin to name a public utility commissioner to succeed Richard J. Beamish has resulted in a deadlock in much of the commission's work . . The P. U. C. is composed of five members but the vacancy often results in tie votes on important questions forcing the commission to table them until another member is named to break the tie . . Although only one Democrat, Thomas C. Buchanan, remains on the commission, Republican commissioner Ralph W. Thorne often joins him in dissenting from rulings proposed by chairman John Siggins, Jr., and B. Frank Morgal.

The State Game commission has reported that the number of "lost" dogs has increased during the past several months leading officials to believe that "the inhumane practice of dropping unwanted dogs along the back roads and other out-of-the-way places has apparently been on the increase lately" . . Some officials expressed the opinion that "some people have broken faith with men in the armed forces who entrusted their canine pals to friends" . . The commission pointed out that the dogs are a menace to wildlife and livestock.

The department of agriculture has estimated that there are only about 283,000 horses in Pennsylvania today as compared with 600,000 at the beginning of the century . . The number of mules, however, has increased from 27,000 to 40,000 . . "It is true that the development of the tractor has greatly influenced this situation," the department stated, "as can be seen from the fact that in the early '20s tractor sales averaged 1300 a year, but just previous to the rationing of farm equipment as a result of the war, annual sales ran around 8000" . . The department added that the number of hogs declined 68 per cent. during the last 43 years while the number of sheep was down more than two thirds . . In general, the department estimated that the number of livestock and poultry on Pennsylvania farms was only 80 per cent. of the total in 1900.

The Pennsylvania State Education association has advised teachers desiring to work during the summer recess in private industry that they need not fear being "frozen" in their jobs by the war manpower commission . . "The War Manpower commission in Washington wants teachers to return to teaching in the fall," the association emphasized. It was pointed out, however, that teachers working in higher paid essential jobs in industry during the summer must receive a "statement of availability" either from the local office of the U. S. Employment service, their present employer, or the regional War Manpower commission . . The association warned, however that "conditions constantly change, and what is true today may not be true tomorrow".

Grand Jury Returns Presentments In Steel Test Probe

Carnegie-Illinois Company And Four Officials In Metallurgical Department Affected

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 28.—The federal grand jury which yesterday returned presentments against the Carnegie-Illinois Steel company and four officials in the metallurgical department of it vast Irvin Works plant reconvened today to continue the probe into alleged test "faking" on government war contracts.

The extraordinary jury which first met six weeks ago to consider charges made by the Truman war investigating committee that the key United States Steel corporation delivered sub-standard steel plating to the Maritime Commission and lend-lease, accused Carnegie-Illinois and the quartet of officials with "knowingly and wilfully concealing and covering up" material facts within the jurisdiction of their department.

The presentments charged that "several hundred records" were destroyed by the men in violation of federal law which might have aided the investigation.

The men listed in the informations were identified as John J. McConnell, sheet mill metallurgist; Murray E. Stewart, specifications supervisor; David B. Ireland, assistant sheet mill metallurgist, and Walter J. Huemrich, assistant supervisor of specifications. All are employed at the Irvin Works plant, although Huemrich was the only one not suspended by the company following the Truman committee disclosures.

Commenting on the grand jury action, J. Lester Perry, president of Carnegie-Illinois, declared:

"If any concealment or destruction of records occurred it was done without the knowledge or approval of the management of Carnegie-Illinois.

"I have the utmost faith in the employes of the Irvin Works and believe they have done a remarkable job in the production of plates vitally needed to help win this war."

SANITY TEST FOR SLAYER OF GIRLS

Mother Who Drowned Small Daughters To Undergo Test

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 28—Despite her almost hysterical pleas to see the bodies of the two baby daughters she confessed drowning, Mrs Katherine Gump, 27-year-old wife of a Brookline gas company emplove, was kept in jail today to await an inquest and also a test of her sanity.

Detectives, to whom Mrs. Gump admitted immersing her tiny daughters, Sandra Rae, 2, and Katherine Elaine, four months, in a bathtub of water, were compelled to refuse the distraught mother permission to see the children in the county morgue because the woman was to undergo a test by state psychiatrists later in the day.

In her confession to police, Mrs Gump said she killed the babies after "something snapped" in her brain. Her recital included the facts that after drowning the children in the bathtub she dressed them in new night clothes and tucked the little girls in their crib.

Raymond Gump, the father, returned home from work Wednesday in time to halt his wife from committing suicide by inhaling gas fumes.

For a while Mrs. Gump retained her composure in jail but suddenly she broke under the strain and repeated over and over again, "I killed them, I killed them."

Detective Inspector Walter Monoghan hinted that he might have discovered a "motive" for the double killing other than apparent mental derangement, but he declined to discuss his findings until the investigation is complete and the report of the sanity commission is known.

Meanwhile, Gump insisted his wife had been "nervous and unstrung" for some time and had been scheduled to see a doctor just before the tragedy.

Any tire made in the last two or three years is good for eight or 10 years, if not worn out. That is, they will not rot in that time.

'No Snooping' For OPA, State Informs Local Ration Groups

Defense Council Also Sets Conditions For Appointment And Duties Of County Members

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 28.—The state defense council Thursday informed county groups that members nominated for local ration boards and price panels were not to engage in "snooping" assignments but were to aid the office of price administration in other ways.

In agreeing to instruct county defense councils to cooperate with the OPA in enforcing price and rationing regulations, the state body set three "conditions" which must be observed: (1) There are to be no appointments to ration or panel boards or personnel other than those nominated by county defense councils (2) Panel board members nominated by county councils "shall not at any time be used for 'snooper' work, that is, the inspection of wholesale or retail stores, or any kind of routine inspection, save that of following up and dealing with specific complaints received by panel boards" and (3) The basic function of panel board members and employes nominated by county councils "shall not be changed in Pennsylvania without approval of the state council of defense."

Dr. Ralph C. Hutchison, executive director of the state council, explained that the reservations were established after OPA officials failed to give assurance that these practices would be followed.

County councils, he said, have been nominating persons for ration board membership since the start of the rationing program and were recently asked by OPA to perform the same function for the new price panels.

The state council rejected a proposal by the OPA that each ration board and price panel contain a labor representative on the ground that "there is no similar provision for agriculture, or for retailers, or for other groups."

The largest "daily double" horse racing bet ever paid was collected in 1934 in England, when an unidentified person received $11,500 for a $2.50 ticket.

SIZE OF WAR BONDS TO BE CUT IN HALF

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 28—Secretary Morgenthau announced Thursday that the size of war bonds is to be cut about in half to save paper and materials.

Morgenthau made the revelation in disclosing that the third war-loan drive, scheduled for September or October, will be concentrated on individual and corporation sales.

"From now on," the secretary said, "bank offers in the war financing campaign will be handled at a separate date from the public war loan drive."

Bombing Of Germany Will Be Relentless, Attlee Tells Commons

By LEO V. DOLAN
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, May 28.—Air bombing of Germany and other legitimate methods of prosecuting the war will be continued relentlessly, Major Clement Richard Attlee, deputy prime minister, told the house of commons Thursday.

In reply to a question, he said:

"Destruction of the Axis war potential by air bombing is a vital and major feature of our offensive.

"Neither the enemy nor anyone else will divert us from it.

"Nor should we relax vigorous prosecution of the war by this or other legitimate methods until complete victory for the United Nations has been achieved."

Senate Paralyzed By 39 Words Of Head Of Liberia

President Barclay Gives Shortest Speech By Foreign Statesman On Record

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 28—President Edwin Barclay of Liberia, Negro republic in West Africa, on Thursday swept the Senate off its feet with the shortest speech ever given by the visiting head of any foreign state.

Escorted by Senators Lister Hill (D) Ala., Charles E. McNary (R) of Ore., Robert A. Wagner (D) of N. Y., and Arthur Capper (R) of Kan., President Barclay made the usual bows after introduction and then said:

"Mr. President, and members of the Senate, I wish to express to you my high appreciation of the courtesy shown me in permitting me to observe for a few moments, the processes of law making in the United States."

The 39 words silenced the Senate. Members waited for the rest to follow.

But Barclay sat down, smiling, crossed his knees, folded his arms and faced the floor.

For a moment, there was complete silence.

Finally Vice President Wallace gave the floor to Sen. Kenneth D. McKellar (L) of Tenn., to pave the way for consideration of pending bills.

The legislative procedure went on and President Barclay, like few others in history, was automatically conceded the privilege of the floor without regard to the Senate's stringent rules.

Later Barclay spoke before the House. He uttered his words in such a low voice that neither reporters nor expert official stenographers could catch them. Here again he astounded American lawmakers by the brevity of his remarks.

I Need YOU! in the VICTORY CROP CORPS.

HERE IS AN EMERGENCY YOU CAN HELP WITH

TO THE CITIZENS OF LAWRENCE COUNTY:

The food production situation in Lawrence County has reached a critical stage. Hundreds of men have left Lawrence County farms to enter the Armed Services and to take jobs in War Production Industries.

Weather conditions have delayed the planting of oats by six weeks, and will reduce the crop by about fifty per cent. Corn must be planted by June 5th if the crop is to ripen—yet weather conditions are delaying that job. When the weather becomes favorable, there will be an immense amount of work to be done on Lawrence County farms if the crops are to be planted.

As soon as the planting job is completed the harvesting of hay must start and the cultivation of corn and potatoes will commence. The harvesting of wheat starts about July 1st and will be followed by oats harvest. In the meantime, livestock of all kinds must be cared for every day. Fruit must be harvested as it ripens or it is lost.

The farmers of Lawrence County cannot do all the work themselves if they are to produce to the full capacity of their farms.

If you have had farm experience, you can help in planting, caring for, and harvesting the crops which are so badly needed to feed our Armed Forces, our Civilian population, and our Allies.

Only if you make your services available can the production we need be secured. The farmers of Lawrence County will do everything they can to produce as much food as possible. Will you help them increase this total?

Very truly yours,

LAWRENCE CO. EMERGENCY FARM LABOR COMMITTEE.
J. A. Boak, chairman.

HOW YOU CAN HELP

- Determine time you will be available.
- Arrange schedule to allow ½ day freedom for farm help each week.
- Discuss the problem with your employer.
- Call, visit or mail for an application to the U. S. Crop Corps!

The farmers of your community need you! If you can qualify, and are not at present a full-time employee in vital industry, enroll in the U. S. Crop Corps! Full or part time employment, whether you have had farm experience or not! Healthy, vigorous work, salary at prevailing rates!

U. S. CROP CORPS

- You will be compensated for your labor.
- You will enjoy the work and receive returns in health.
- YOU WILL BE DOING YOUR PATRIOTIC DUTY.

Horst Denies Rise In Living Cost Is Due To Food Prices

Figures Quoted To Show Public Spends Proportionately Less Of Income On Food Now

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, May 28.—Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst denies that food costs are the controlling factor in the overall rise in the cost of living. A rather prevalent tendency on the part of consumers to feel that the money paid for food represents in large part a return to the farmer who produces the food also is not justified by the facts, he asserts.

Horst referred to statistics of the U. S. Bureau of Labor which showed that the non-farm family which had an income in 1920 of $1,853 spent $688 for all foods and $514 for a list of 58 food items, selected on the basis of their general use.

"Last year," Horst stated, "the income of that average family showed an advance to $2,322 and the cost of all food was only $505 and the retail cost of the 58 selected items was only $398, or a smaller percentage of income than was paid 22 years before.

"In other words, the cost of all food as a percentage of income in 1920 was 37 per cent, compared with 22 per cent last year, the lowest on record, and the cost of the 58 selected items as a percentage of income was 28 per cent in 1920, compared with the all-time low of 17 per cent last year.

"This means that for all food less than one-fourth of the income is spent and only slightly less than one-sixth of the income is spent for the most widely used food items."

In discussing the share of the consumer's dollar which is received by the farmer, Horst declared that "statistics show that on the basis of the 58 selected food items, at no time since 1913 has the farmer's share of the retail value of those items been above 55 per cent.

Ration Coupons For Scully's Official Car Are Used On Trip

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 28.—Gasoline ration coupons issued for Mayor Cornelius Scully's official car were used in purchasing the fuel for the mayor's controversial 350-mile round-trip motor excursion to his Shepherdstown, W. Va., apple farm, the Pittsburgh OPA disclosed today.

While residents of the city openly debated the merits of the case, Chief OPA Enforcement Officer Loran L. Lewis declared the matter would be given to the downtown Pittsburgh rationing board for adjudication.

The admission that the C ration book issued for a Cadillac employed by Mayor Scully in his official business was used to take the mayor to his West Virginia farm over the week-end came from the lips of Marion Graves, Scully's chauffeur, who drove the mayor to the farm.

The board is empowered to suspend gasoline rations for any particular car if it is satisfied that rationing privileges were abused by the operator of the automobile.

SOYA FLOUR MAKES 'COOKING' BREAD

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—Soya flour is being introduced in food stores in the form of a "cooking" bread designed to extend food and save ration points.

Blended with whole wheat and white flour, the soya flour is used in the manufacture of a loaf of bread prepared specially as a food extender and not as a table bread.

The new use of soya flour as 10 per cent of the flour ingredient provides soya protein which does the same tissue-building job as fresh beeksteak, according to bakers, and replaces element of foods limited in quantity by rationing.

Liberals despise those who would make people total abstainers by force, yet use the same method to establish racial tolerance.

Health Talks

By DR. W. A. WOMER, City Health Superintendent

One of the best ways for preserving food is by freezing.

Frozen foods have been in use for thousands of years. We have found out different ways of freezing lately.

By freezing foods where they are grown, waste is avoided.

Vitamins are not lost in frozen foods.

Frozen foods have the same amount of vitamins as fresh foods.

The color and texture and taste are well preserved too.

Surprising as it may seem to some persons, airplanes are able to travel faster than a bullet shot from a gun.

To Aid Enlistment Of Provost Marshal Candidates Here

Committee Is Named To Aid In Selection Of Possible Applicants Here

As an aid to the government in the enlistment of men for provost marshal general duties in connection with overseas work, a civilian advisory committee has been appointed in New Castle to work with a central committee in Pittsburgh.

This committee met Thursday at noon in The Castleton hotel and heard Harold Brownlee, an insurance executive, of Pittsburgh, discuss the duties of the committee and the types of men being asked for in this important work.

Briefly, the work of the men selected will be this: to serve as civil affairs officers on the staffs of commanding generals of areas taken over by Allied troops; to be advisors in a special field to the civil affairs officers, and to prepare overall plans and programs for handling problems that will naturally arise in such areas.

Committee Organized

Th committee named for New Castle thus far consists of Judge W. Walter Braham, Joel S. McKee, Postmaster William R. Hanna, W. Keith McAfee, Captain Roger W. Rowland, Roger Jewett, Sam Lewis and Bart Richards. Joel S. McKee was named temporary chairman; Sam Levine, secretary, and later a permanent organization will be formed.

The purpose of the local committee is to seek out men who are qualified for the work sought, to conduct such preliminary investigation as will save the Pittsburgh committee much detail and to recommend applicant for appointment. Those accepted will be especially trained in schools for the important work they will undertake.

Dry Goods Trade Seeks Removal Of Deputy OPA Chief

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Representatives of the retail dry goods trade Thursday demanded the removal of Dr J. K. Galbraith, deputy OPA price control chief, so that more "just" regulations may be devised.

William H. Hager, Jr., vice president of the 122-year-old Hager & Brothers department store at Lancaster, Pa., and Irving G. Fox, general council for the National Retail Dry Goods Association, voiced the demands.

Testifying before a house committee on grade labeling in regard to OPA order 339, which sets maximum prices and minimum standards for rayon hosiery, Hager said:

"Most brand-like hosiery manufacturers have been forced to deteriorate their product under OPA orders. New orders are needed but we feel that Dr. Galbraith and his assistants ought to be dispensed with before they are made."

War-Born Plant Paid Huge Salaries

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—Federal court officials today were still awed by testimony given before a referee in bankruptcy that a war-born plant which started on less than $1,000 capital, paid its president $47,000 a year.

Huston Rawls, who described himself as an "upper New Jersey farmer," admitted that was his salary before referee John M. Hill at a hearing to determine the assets and liabilities of the Harrisburg Machine & Foundry Co., Harrisburg, and the Springfield Machine & Foundry Co., Springfield, Mass.

Rawls said the parent firm was started about two years ago by a "group of patriotic persons wishing to help the war effort" and on promises of the U. S. Martime commission that it would give the company contracts for ship engines. Other officers in the firm, Rawls said, received annual salaries ranging from $18,000 to $25,000.

Hearings were continued until June 4.

National Rifle Association Marksmanship Certificates Presented To Students

At an assembly of the senior high school student body at the school on Thursday, members of New Castle Rifle club received certificate awards given by the National Rifle Association for completing basic rifle training and rifle marksmanship.

Captain Lester McClelland, who was introduced by J. H. E. McKenzie, faculty supervisor of the Rifle club, spoke on the value of rifle training to the individual and the National Rifle Association. The N. R. A. film, "Fundamentals of Rifle Marksmanship," is used in training men in all branches of the service.

Marksmanship certificates from the N. R. A. were presented by Mr. Allen to the following girls: 1st class, Mary Lou Mahoney, Jean McConnell, Darlene Reedy; 2nd class, Delores Marchand, Lillian Reynolds; 3rd class, Joanne Cox, Katherine Marousis. Truckers Called To Washington

Summoned hurriedly to Washington, D. C., for a conference by Ted Rogers, president of the American Trucking Association, officers and directors of the Lawrence County chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association left Thursday afternoon. In the group were Presiden J. Fred Clarke, Samuel A. Mooney, Al Bauman, Jr., Barney Martin and John Loudon.

The conference was called to protest a further reduction of 40 per cent in gasoline for the use of trucks. Previously a 40 per cent cut had been announced and the additional cut will hamper the transportation of war materials, the truck officials say.

Truck officials from all over eastern United States will be present at the meeting in Washington today.

REPLACING LOST RATION BOOKS MORE DIFFICULT

Getting a replacement for your lost ration book isn't as simple as it might appear according to A. H. Plato, field representative of the Office of Price Administration who was in New Castle Thursday. Eventually you may get your ration book replaced but it takes time and some formalities.

"There have been so many lost ration books reported that it has become necessary to demand certain measures upon the part of the book holder" said Mr. Plato. "Now we require that when a book is lost the owner notify the police, and the local rationing office. Then they should advertise the matter in the newspaper. We will send a representative to the city to investigate the loss but it will be ten days or more before a replacement can be issued."

The moral seems to be, don't lose your ration books.

Babson Visions Many New Industrial Developments

By ROGER W. BABSON

(Copyright, 1943, Publishers Financial Bureau, Inc.)

BABSON PARK, Mass., May 28.—My readers should remember, particularly when making investments, that some industries are always declining whereas other industries are showing healthy growth trends. During the war we have been in a kind of new industrial revolution. Our engineers and scientists have developed certain existing principles and made important new discoveries. After the war we all can benefit in our every-day lives from the progress being made in science and industry.

BABSON

Normal Growth vs Stability

Investors and industrialists who wish to play more-or-less safe have a rather wide choice for their investment capital between the newer stocks and the old-timers. Among the industries which are now in a normal growth period are office equipment, electrical equipment, radio, rubber, electrical utilities, petroleum, building supplies and automobiles. Most of these industries are now concentrating upon war work, but after the war they will resume their customary operations. They may be expected, over a period of years, to grow slowly in their useful services and supplies.

Industries which have more-or-less already "arrived" are characterized by their stability of operation. Among them may be railroading, mining, farm implements, telephone and telegraph, leather, lumber, ice, soap, cosmetics, containers, food, paper, steel and iron, the textiles and anthracite coal. Merchandizing, banking and the printing and publishing industry may also be considered in the stable group. All these groups will be part of the American business scene for many years to come. But sooner or later they may proceed to the point where radical new developments will force them to change their methods or products or else they will enter a period of deciling usefulness.

Mid-Trend Industries

There is also a midway group which will perhaps reflect, over the long pull, new growth and expansion. These include lighting and heating fixtures, bituminous coal, farming, suburban transportation, food preservation, photography, pulp products and home appliances. We all know that the lighting of factories and office buildings has improved immeasurably in the last few years. Further strides will be made in this field until perhaps the ordinary light fixture, as we know it, will be a veritable antique.

Bituminous coal is already giving us many new types of products of a plastic nature. It is still, when easily accessible, a most efficient source of electric power. Farming through chemurgy has an incredible future both from an industrial and food point of view. If space permitted I could go on and outline further new developments that will be made in the glass industry and in other lines.

Rapid-Growth Industries

Industries in another classification are literally in the cradle. They may become to our grandchildren what the telephone, the automobile and the airplane have been to us. They include television, wired photography, electronics, pre-fabricated houses, synthetic fibres, safe aviation, chemicals and plastics, insulation and air conditioning, alloys and light metals and the wonders of fermentation. It is in these fields that our engineers and scientists are doing their most constructive work. Investment and manufacturing capital may well consider the opportunities these fields offer for post-war growth.

The war has made many United States industries self-sufficient and others obsolescent. This may react both to our advantage and to our disadvantage. Other nations are looking forward to selling us, after the war, certain of their war products in competition with ours. If we do not purchase them, the working class, manufacturers and exporters of certain foreign nations may suffer greatly unless the needs for re-construction take up the slack. Certainly, religion and science, in our postwar world, hold the joint key to solving the dilemma.

Industries To Avoid

All industries go through a life cycle and may eventually become extinct. The manufacture of the Conestoga Wagons which carried so many of our settlers west was a great industry in its day. The barge canals also did a great business. Even the corset industry has moved from whalebone to two-way stretch! The only thing that is certain in our lives is change. We must be equal to adapting ourselves to changing modes of living and to ever-changing investment and manufacturing conditions. In ordinary times, without the stimulus of war, it might take decades to bring about the changes which I now expect to see compressed into the next few years. Too many people are characterized by their inertia which keeps many in decadent businesses and investments. Hence, my advice to readers is to acquaint themselves with what is going on.

Cowardly Spirit Of People Scored

President Of Bucknell University Assails Attitude Of Many Americans

(International News Service)

LEWISBURG, Pa., May 28.—People who patronize black markets, use boc leg gasoline, complain of food and pleasure restrictions and demand "more and more pay" today were termed "selfish persons still living in the cowardly spirit of the 30's" by Dr. Arnaud C. Marts, president of Bucknell university and former State Civilian Defense director.

"This generation of the past 25 years has been taught and trained and encouraged to rationalize itself out of duty and discipline and hard effort," Dr. Mart told graduating members of Bucknell university at baccalaureate exercises last night. More than 100 bachelor and seven master degrees will be conferred at commencement exercises today, with Dr. Hu Shih, former Chinese ambassador to the United States, as speaker.

Dr. Marts, now a captain in the U. S. coast guard, contrasted the coast guard slogan of "You have to go out but you don't have to come back" with what he said was America's slogan for the past quarter century, namely, "You don't have to go out, unless someone gives you a guarantee that you'll come back, plus a bonus and retirement with pension at the age of 65."

This shirking of responsibility resulted in America's reluctance to come to the aid of oppressed peoples in China, Europe and Africa, Dr. Marts declared.

"We dodged and ducked and shirked our duty," said Dr. Marts. "Did this bring peace and safety? It did not. We pretended we could hide and be safe if we did not go to the aid of the oppressed in China, in Europe, in Africa...the little fires that a brave and honest America might have put out with little effort 10 or five years ago have now become a holocaust which we must fight with $200,000,000,000 worth of our wealth and with the bodies of 11,000,000 of our boys. Our 'smartness' has turned into bitter and shameful stupidity."

Retail Sales For State Highest In Last Fifteen Years

Survey Shows More Sales In 1942 Than In Banner Year Of 1929

(International News Service)

STATE COLLEGE, Pa., May 28.—Retail sales in Pennsylvania are now at their highest point in 15 years, even exceeding the banner year of 1929 by 9 per cent. Boosted by the war, total statewide retail sales reached $4,069,000,000 in 1942 compared to $3,748,000,000 in 1929.

These are the conclusions of a survey released by the Bureau of Business Research at the Pennsylvania State college, which has computed the effect of the war on retail sales in all major lines of business and in 15 leading cities of the state.

Total retail sales in Pennsylvania at the start of the war were $3,133,000,000. In the following year an 11 per cent increase took place, followed by a 17 per cent gain in 1941, when the defense program began to take on greater importance.

Although the country is embarked on the greatest war-spending policy in history, retail sales in 1942 were estimated at the same level as those for 1941, due in large part to immense reductions in sales of durable consumers good, especially in the automotive field, which accounts for about one-eighth of the retail trade in the state.

Businesses which bettered the 1929 volume are foods, drug stores, general merchandise groups, apparel, eating and drinking places, and filling stations. Those which fell below the 1929 level are general stores (with foods), florists, automotive groups, furniture-household-radio group, and the lumber-building-hardware businesses.

Even though the 1942 average increase in retail sales tops 1929, the war has not proved an undivided blessing to the retailers of the state.

BOY HIT BY BAT

Teddy Redman, aged 4 years, of R. F. D. No. 1, was treated at the Jameson Memorial hospital, at 9:25 o'clock Thursday evening, for a laceration above the right eye, received when he was struck by a baseball bat while playing.

It has been calculated that a fly makes 330 wing strokes a second, a bee 240, a wasp 110, a dragonfly 28, and a butterfly 8.

Mayor Scully To Get Hearing On Gas Ration Charge

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 28.—The three-man gasoline panel of ration board No. 1 in Pittsburgh has a job on its hand that it doesn't like—hearing the case of Mayor Cornelius D. Scully.

The case of Mayor Scully, charged with violation of the pleasure driving ban in his 350-mile trip to Shephertown, W. Va., last week-end, will be one of several set for hearings next Thursday night.

New information supplied by OPA investigators revealed that the mayor possesses two "C" ration books, one for the city's car and one for personal use. The OPA believed previously that Scully held a "B" ration for official use. With both books he could buy 200 gallons monthly—more than "A" motorists could buy in nearly three years.

According to the OPA, Scully was issued "C" coupons by the rationing board in exchange for three 100-gallon bulk coupons previously issued to the city. Investigation of this irregularity will continue.

Over-Supply Of Potatoes Likely

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 28.—It's just a dream, Pittsburghers are sure. They can't believe that an "oversupply" of potatoes is imminent for this area despite the promises of shipments from southern growers.

Local dealers received word yesterday that producers in Florida and North Carolina were anxious to ship as many potatoes as possible before they have to reduce their prices. The OPA's new price control measures have ordered a 60-cent reduction on June 1 in the price Florida producers may charge. North Carolina shippers must sustain a 10-cent cut in prices on June 1.

The black market may be broken in Pittsburgh if normal supplies keep arriving as they have now for four consecutive days.

REGISTRATION FOR CANNING SUGAR NOW COMPLETED

With the usual minimum of confusion and lost motion, the registration for canning sugar took place in the schools of New Castle on Wednesday and Thursday, and at the close of the work Thursday night it was thought that the list of registrants had been fairly well cleaned up. At least, every applicant who presented him or herself was registered. Those who failed to heed the notices of registration will now have to wait for some time until arrangements can be made to register them later. For the present there are no arrangements for registering them in the local ration office.

Regulations this year call for five pounds of sugar each for every person on ration stamps 15 and 16. The registration on Wednesday and Thursday provides a maximum of 15 pounds per person, including five pounds each for jams and jellies. Hence, the maximum to any person this year is 25 pounds.

The local public schools were dismissed early each afternoon on Wednesday and Thursday, and the registration took place from two to nine o'clock.

Emergency Farm Labor Office Is In New Location

Clearing Center For Farmers Needing Help Now In Penn Power Building

Announcement is made today of the change in location of the Emergency Farm Labor office from 21 South Mill street to the Pennsylvania Power company building, on the Diamond.

The Emergency Farm Labor committee acts as a clearing house between the farmer and those who are willing to devote some of their time to assisting the farmer in producing his crops in the war effort.

Any farmer needing assistance is asked to register his needs at the office of the committee in the Power company building. Similarly, anyone who can give a few hours time, a day's time, or more, is asked to register. They will receive adequate compensation for their work.

Several Lawrence county farmers have already been aided by the committee in getting their ground ready for the new crops, and with bad weather having held up the farmers for several weeks, more help is expected to be needed now in getting crops in.

The phone number in the new location is 7562.

Bus Lines Make Protest On Tax

W. H. Muldoon, executive vice president of the Shenango Valley Transportation company and William Smeal of the Smeal Bus line yesterday protested to council the charges or mercantile tax imposed for operating buses here. Council took the protests under advisement.

Muldoon said that the city mercantile tax on a 20 passenger bus is $25 and for a 25 or more passenger bus it is $100. He said this was too large a jump in proportion to what is paid for a 20 passenger bus and informed council the company would be willing to pay a reasonable increase, over $20.

Smeal said his buses cater to railroad travel, do not pick up passengers in the city and instead of being charged $100, he believes a rate of $1 per passenger would be fair. His buses carry about 25 passengers.

TWO INJURED WHEN TAXI IS SIDESWIPED

Mrs. Gertrude Lutes of Beechwood Inn, R. F. D. No. 3, and John Fisher of 310 Locust street are undergoing treatment in the Jameson Memorial hospital for injuries sustained when a taxicab, in which they both were riding, was sideswiped at the corner of Beaver and West Washington streets at 11 o'clock Thursday night.

The two were separate fares, who were sharing the same cab because of the recent restrictions on gasoline.

Mrs. Lutes sustained injuries of the right shoulder and Johnson suffered injuries of the right shoulder and chest.

Constable Conner's Son Suffers Wound

Constable and Mrs. Frank C. Conner, of 422 Fairmont avenue, have received a letter from their son, Pvt. Charles C. Conner, who has been in North Africa since the invasion opened, stating that he was wounded in the chest in the closing phases of the Tunisian campaign.

Pvt. Conner told his parents that he was getting along nicely in the hospital, to which he was flown by plane after receiving treatment at an advanced dressing station, and that he hopes to be home soon.

He stated that he was glad the battle was over, and that the closing days were pretty tough.

Constable Conner, a veteran of World War one, also suffered wounds in action, in the previous war.

BICYCLIST RECEIVES INJURIES IN FALL

Angelo Vitale, of 915 South Jefferson street, age 16 years, was treated this morning at 11:45 a. m. in the New Castle hospital, for deep lacerations of the lower right leg, received while riding his bicycle.

Angelo was mounting his bicycle when his foot slipped from the pedal, resulting in the fall which caused his injuries. He was taken to the hospital immediately.

● Yes, we invented the price-ceiling a long time ago. We've always practiced the principle of controlled prices. To determine the selling price of a prescription we add the cost of labor and ingredients, plus a trifle for overhead, and a modest profit. That's our price to you. It's always fair and reasonable. Franklin Wins New Castle Junior High Track Title

Bob Post Jars Three Records In Fast Meet

Shatters 100, 220, Broad Jump Marks; Franklin Tallies 95½ Points

NORTH HILLERS FINISH SECOND

Eye-catching performances by wiry Bob Post, George Washington's human deer, sparkled like a row of giant diamonds as Ben Franklin copped its 3rd successive New Castle Junior High track championship, Thursday afternoon at Taggart stadium.

Coach "Austie" Cowmeadow's troupe, wealthy in talent, breezed ahead of the field with 95½ points. George Washington finished second with 62½ markers while Mahoningtown held down the third slot with 22 points.

Jars Century Mark

The eager-eyed Post drew the cheers of the several hundred youthful spectators by cracking the 100-yard dash record in class 4. Official Timer "Gig" Thomas clocked Post at 10.6 seconds, .3 of a second better time than posted by Lee, Panella and Falk in past meets.

Then Post took his place in the 220-yard scamper and looked like Count Fleet as he covered the distance in the amazing time of 23.4 seconds—another new mark. The old time was 23.5 second, established by Falk.

Hopping to the broad jump pit, Post shattered his third record of the day, leaping 19 feet 3½ inches. The old mark of 18 feet 11 inches was owned by Pitzer.

Post's one-man show was by far the outstanding event of the day.

Champs Take Lead

Franklin gained the lead early in the meet and kept adding to its margin, cinching the title before the affair was half over. Washington, coached by Art Alexander, and Mahoning, piloted by R. Flannery, proved stiff competition in most

Seven City League Rules Are Changed

Non-Lawrence County Residents Eligible; Rosters Are Upped To 25 Players

In order to overcome some of the encumbrances lifted to the surface by the war, the City Baseball league has been forced to revise some of its rules, Secretary-Treasurer Charles A. Landolf disclosed today.

To acquaint loop followers with changes, new rules follow:

Instead of the 20-player roster, teams will be permitted 25 performers.

Seven Changes

Teams withdrawing from the loop before the completion of either half will forfeit the $25 franchise fee.

Twilight games will start at 6 o'clock; Sunday clashes at 3.

Games will played on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Sundays.

Players residing outside of the county are eligible to play. In previous years, only Lawrence county residents were permitted to play.

Score sheets must be forwarded to C. A. Landolf not later than 8:30 o'clock morning following game. The winning team violating the rule will be fined $1.

If a team is tardy arriving at the scene of the game a 15-minute leeway will be allowed.

Remaining rules are the same as last year.

Teams Drill

With the Sunday opening date rapidly approaching, loop members are rounding into fine early season condition.

The tee-off battles pair the Pottery and Moose on Lee avenue field, west side and the Lawrence Indies and Elders on Marshall field.

In the event of rain, teams will start with the Tuesday schedule. Sunday games will be listed as postponed frays.

Players' contracts must be turned in not later than Saturday noon.

Bosox Top Injuns In Breakfast Game

(International News Service)

BOSTON, May 28.—Cecil "Tex" Hughson, with a five-hit effort, steered the last-place Red Sox to a 2 to 0 victory over the league-leading Cleveland Indians in a morning game here Thursday.

The Sox were limited to five hits by a trio of tribal twirlers but bunched three of the blows off Mike Naymick for two tallies in the fifth. Eddie Lake singled and was forced by Peacock. Then Hughson walked and, after Culberson fanned, Fox beat out a hit, filling the sacks. Bobby Doerr followed with a single which scored the only tallies.

The game was witnessed by a crowd of 1,821.

Swede Track Ace Must Contend With Rice; Stars Lacking In Europe

GUNDER MAY BE ANOTHER FLOP

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, May 28—Gunder Haegg, the Swede who is supposed to be the greatest runner that ever came to this country from abroad—and perhaps the greatest from one mile through three miles that the world has seen—is en route here for a campaign that will confirm his preeminence. On the other hand he may be a flop. He wouldn't be the first to find the ballyhoo too much for him.

Paavo Nurmi lived up to all expectations gack in the golden 20's, and ever since he cut a trail in behalf of the foreigners they have been trying to capitalize on it with occasional embarrassment. The worst flop of them all was Sidney Wooderson, the Englishman.

He had run the fastest mile ever clocked without pacing — meaning the fastest, except Glen Cunningham's 4:04.4 mile at Dartmouth.

Wooderson Flopped

He was ushered into the United States with fitting blare of trumpets and great palpitation all around prior to his run down at Princeton. He didn't look like a miler. He seemed slight and utterly unprepossessing. Actually he couldn't run a lick over here.

Gunder Haegg may be different. He has piled up record after rec-

ALLEN-UMPIRE TIFF FEATURES AS BUCCOS WIN

Balk Decision Stirs Dodger Pitcher; Four Players Are Ejected

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 28.—The old gag about "it could only happen in Brooklyn" should be changed today to "it could only happen to Brooklyn"

What veteran sports writers here termed one of the worst player-umpire brawls in history happened to Brooklyn's Johnny Allen during yesterday's night game with the Pirates at Forbes field which the Pirates won 9 to 5.

Allen, who when he came up with the New York Yankees a dozen years ago quickly got the reputation as one of the most fiery pitchers in baseball, apparently has not mellowed with age, because when he replaced Frank Melton in the eighth inning, he succeeded in getting nobody out but himself.

Balk Called

The trouble started when Umpire George Barr, standing between first and second, called a balk on Allen, permitting Huck Geary of the Pirates to score from third.

Allen flew at Barr like an enraged bull and started to throw harder than he ever did in his life on the mound until pried away by teammates.

For ten minutes the Dodgers argued with their irate pitcher and all seemed quiet again when Allen broke loose and started for Barr a second time. When it was all over, Allen, along with Dodger pitchers Freddie Fitzsimmons, Rube Melton and Les Webber, were thrown out of the game.

The fans had no difficulty making out the figure of Barr in the melee. Allen knocked his cap off and Barr's bald pate glistened in the night under the arc lights. Leo Durocher, the mighty Lip, was so busy keeping Allen away from Barr he forgot to do any beefing himself.

PIAA TRIAL HEATS TODAY

(International News Service)

ALTOONA, Pa., May 28—One hundred and forty high school teams from 10 school districts today are eager to get going in the 19th annual PIAA track and field championships which start here tomorrow.

While actual championship competition doesn't begin until tomorrow, the teams were on hand with full squads for the trial heats today.

Only the 11th and 12th school districts were missing from class A, while the ninth and 11th districts will not be represented in class B competition.

District 6 will act as official hosts to the visiting schoolboys, and Ray Conger, one-time ace runner for the University of Illinois, will be on hand as official starter. Conger is now teaching at Penn State.

Indians Dumped Twice, 2-0, 4-3; Bucs Rallys To 'Moider' Dodgers

PHILLIES BLANKED GIANTS KAYO CUBS

By JOHN CASHMAN
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, May 28—It's anybody's pennant in the American League from here in. This was proved when the last place Boston Red Sox trounced the loop-leading Cleveland Indians in a doubleheader 2 to 0 and 4 to 3, to narrow down the space between the top and bottom of the league to the breadth of a hair.

Then in a Washington night game the Senators returned to top place in the league lead by trimming the St. Louis Browns 4 to 2. This game was Earl Wynn's third consecutive victory for Washington.

Bues Spank Bums

"Dem Bums" — Officially the Brooklyn Dodgers — lived up to their reputation in a game with the Pittsburgh Pirates when Pitcher Johnny Allen, protesting a decision of the umpire's, became so excited he pushed Umpire George Barr around the field until half a dozen Brooklyn players stopped him. Allen, Melton, Fitzsimmons and Webber were ejected. The Pirates, incidentally, won 9 to 5, rallying in the eighth and pushing across four runs.

The Boston Red Sox temporarily halted the pennant ambitions of the Cleveland Indians by scalping the Onions twice, 2-0, in a breakfast clash. Hughson allowed five hits in recording his second shutout. In the afternoon date, the Bean Eaters eked out a 4-3 edge.

While the Indians were being scalped, the New York Yankees were being pitched to death by Hal Newhouser, of the Detroit Tigers, in a 3 to 2 decision. Newhouser pitched the Tigers to a win with at least one strike-out in every inning but the ninth. Prince Hal fanned 14 men, and yielded but six hits.

Two powerful batters in a hitting slump, Rudy York of the Tigers and Joe Gordon of the Yankees, snapped out of it in this game.

Wise Guys See Sammy Losing To Armstrong

Inactivity Works Against Angott; Carver Picks Henry Loser

By LAWTON CARVER
(International News Service Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, May 28.—Along Jacobs' Beach today gents who know everything about boxing, according to their own opinion, shook their heads and said this is the one Sammy Angott will lose. Henry Armstrong will take him June 11 because Angott has fought only once since last October, while Armstrong has been active and apparently is almost as good as new—almost but not quite. There's a difference.

Any way they have just about worn out that record on Angott, and establishing him as the underdog at crazy odds for virtually all his starts in Madison Square Garden. Yet he hasn't been whipped by a lightweight in so long that you can scarcely remember the man's name.

Always Underdog

He was the underdog at 14 to 5 against Bob Montgomery and made that fight a part of his string of three straight over the lightweight champion crowned last week. Angott also went into the ring at a price against Willie Pep for the start of his comeback and in his only fight since last October gave the New York commission featherweight champion a sound shellacking.

Those gents who influence the price if they can't actually set it also had Montgomery at 2½ and 3 to 1 against Beau Jack last week, only to see this underdog win the New York lightweight title by handing Beau Jack the worst pasting of his career.

In the light of past performances by the wise men along the beach, I wish to be among the very first to suggest the strong liklihood that Angott will give Armstrong the licking of his life.

Armstrong Busy

In contrast to Angott's one start on his comeback swing, Armstrong has engaged in 22 matches, scoring 14 knockout, winning five on points and blowing three—to Reuben Shank, to Willie Joyce and to Beau Jack.

Angott beat Montgomery three times, Montgomery beat Beau Jack, Beau Jack beat Armstrong. Shouldn't that make Angott the favorite over Armstrong?

Rooney Proposes Wartime Merger

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, May 28.—Owner Art Rooney of the Pittsburgh Steelers announced today that he would propose a wartime merger of his squad with the Philadelphia Eagles at a special meeting of the National Football league in Chicago June 19.

Rooney said he has conferred with Bert Bell of the Eagles on the proposition, and added that he feels the merger would be better for football than if the Steelers dropped out of the league as did the Cleveland Rams recently.

Rooney said he received word that Joe Hoague and Dick Riffle, star Steeler backs, were entering the armed forces. This latest loss of personnel, Rooney declared, reduced the Steeler roster for 1943 to five players.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

It was decidedly fine to again see Muddy Kurtz—and this time in the uniform of our country. The boy we often referred to during his Arena days as the Clown of Amateur pugilism is far from such and we have yet to see a neater soldier. Muddy has been stationed in Puerto Rico and is home on a furlough. When he heard some Allegheny County boxers were to appear here he accompanied them and acted as a second. Muddy was given a great ovation.

And talking of fighters in uniform. It will not be long until Billy Reale is in the air corps. Billy is married and the father of children but felt the urge. In fact it gives pleasure to know that so many from this city who fought with gloves have now gone forth to fight with gun or whatever instrument he may have.

It is always a real treat to see a referee in the ring who knows his stuff. This was seen when Jackie Fields, former welterweight champion, gave a sample of how a referee should act. Never in the way of the combatants, never in the road of the fighters, he kept them going, had no difficulty causing them to break and he moved around the ring almost as gracefully as he did in '2 when he was a champion.

Incidentally, Jackie, scanned the crop of youths, some of whom will be in uniform and said that, in his opinion the best pugilist prospect of the Evening's Evenin' was Foo Yee, the Chinese from Youngstown. The fans would have liked to have torn the roof off the Arena when the award was passed to his foe. However, it was a mistake in judgment on the judges and not one of intention.

Letter Winners Prove Material For Commissions

(International News Service)

NORMAN, Okla., May 28.—Of 238 former University of Oklahoma sports lettermen now in the armed forces, 91.5 per cent are either commissioned or non-commissioned officers, a survey shows.

More than 77.7 per cent of the total are commissioned officers with at least the rank of second lieutenant in the army or an ensign in the navy. The survey did not include 35 additional "O" winners who are now flying cadets and soon will be commissioned.

Sooner freshmen athletes and unlettered squad men swell the total of Sooner athletes now in the service to more than 400.

Both hit fourth-inning homers, York bringing in four runs and Gordon sending Charley Keller, who had singled, across the plate.

Phils Blanked, 7-0

The Cincinnati Reds whipped the Philadelphia Phillies, 7 to 0, with a 12-hit assault spread out over four straight innings. The Reds hit parade, which covered the fourth, fifth, sixth and seventh frames, included four doubles and a home run. Four-batter was hit by Max Marshall with none on in the seventh.

The St. Louis Cardinals, behind the five-hit tossing of Howard Pollet, defeated the Boston Braves, 3 to 2. The Braves jumped into a lead in the first inning on a two-run homer by Chet Ross, but Ken O'Dea scored one in the bottom half with a single after his club mates walked and stole a base. George Kurowski tied up the game with a seventh-inning homer, then Stan Musial came through with the winning run in the eighth after Connie Ryan dropped a throw on Ray Sanders' single.

Cubs Whipped Again

The New York Giants drove the Chicago Cubs deeper into the National League cellar with a 3 to 2 whipping. The Giants pushed across a run in both the first and fourth innings, then sewed up the game when Johnny Wittig came home after Dick Bartell's single.

In Philadelphia a four run attack knocked out Johnny Humphries in the sixth inning and gave the Athletics a 7 to 5 triumph over the Chicago White Sox, in the first meeting of the two clubs so far this season.

ord abroad. The Swedes think he is the best that ever came along.

Just to keep the records straight in advance it might be wise to point out a technical point. This applies to all runners—humans or hoses. He had no competition over in Europe. In this country he will find himself run into the ground in the early going and he will have to come on from there and outlast our best men. If he can do that all the records he now boasts seemingly will be strictly for the books.

But he might find the early pace too fast and be left so far behind when he gets ready for his kick that he won't be able to catch up. Actually that probably is what will happen. He probably will get whipped pretty thoroughly in our meet.

Faces Greg Rice

If this sounds like something designed to deflate a foreigner that's too bad. Nurmi stood out because he was a specialist within a certain range at a time when others simply didn't have that much steam. Haegg is going to have to beat Greg Rice among others—and it isn't all likely that he can do it. Rice will be pressed for the first time himself with the result that he may shatter Haegg's own records.

events but were unable to cope with the champs' versatility.

Mahoning bagged the 440-yard relay in class 2, one of the feature contests. Franklin, however, crossed the finish stripe first in the class 1 and class 3 relays. Washington packed too much speed in the class 4 880-yard relay.

While only three marks were broken, the panorama was loaded with thrills, especially the running events. The field contests were jammed with excitement, too.

On the running end of the meet the following committee shared the job:

P. H. Bridenbaugh, "Gig" Thomas, Bill Klee, Ralph H. Gardner, Paul Cuba, George Binder, Official Scorer Robert Mills, Bob Stewart, Sr., A. C. Hyde, Paul Cuba and C. A. Landolf.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL

A little sun yesterday afternoon and evening made people think of gardening. One greenhouse started to do business right at dinner time last evening and the cars kept packing in for hours afterwards. It was very interesting to hear the talk of those who were buying vegetable plants. Everyone was in a good humor and delighted that they had things growing in their garden . . . some have lettuce about ready to eat . . . others have been eating onions . . . and still others haven't the ground plowed yet, but it isn't their fault . . . No use getting the land ready when it is muddy . . . Good luck Victory Gardeners . . . may your crop be a bumper one.

When anything gets scarce then is when the buying public wants to buy . . . Take potatoes for instance. In many cases a substitute could be used. If everyone would decide to use a substitute it would soon bring the price of spuds down to earth. Well we are all human and that is the way humans react . . . Tell them no and immediately they want some.

The Emergency Farm Labor Committee will move their office from 21 South Mill street to the Lobby of the Pennsylvania Power Building on the Diamond . . . this central location will be much better for all concerned. Farmers and city folks alike have been keeping the office busy asking for work . . . the Farmer wants help and the City fellow or gal wants to help him. You are not asked to donate your time . . . All farmers in the county have been contacted by the County Farm Agent, L. C. Dayton and the workings of this Emergency Farm Labor Committee have been explained . . . the EFLC is not to be confused with any other Farm Employment proposition. This Committee is underwritten by the Federal Government through the Agriculture Extension Service and here in Pennsylvania our own State College handles all details . . . Your co-operation this summer and harvest will be greatly appreciated.

Adult traveling vacations just won't be this year . . . why not send your boy to a Summer camp. Let him get out with a group under supervision and have the time of his life . . . The Y. M. C. A. camp is modern and up-to-date as is the Boy Scout Camp . . . Inquire about them today.
